

Soviet Warns U.S., Britain About Cyprus

NATO Proposal Is Labeled as 'Armed Invasion'

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The Soviet Union has injected itself directly into the Cyprus crisis by warning the United States and Britain to keep their hands off the strife-torn island.

While his ambassador called on President Archbishop Makarios in Nicosia, Soviet Premier Khrushchev took up the Cyprus issue in Moscow Friday, describing a proposed North Atlantic Treaty Organization peace force as "an armed invasion."

In identical notes to leaders of the United States, Britain, France, Greece and Turkey, Khrushchev accused some members of the Atlantic alliance of attempting to prevent a solution by the U.N. Security Council.

Khrushchev termed the proposed 10,000-man temporary peace keeping force a "crude encroachment on the sovereignty, independence and freedom of the Republic of Cyprus, an attempt to place this small neutral state under the military control of NATO."

He said the Soviet Union could not remain indifferent to developments so close to its southern borders.

Soviet Ambassador Pavel Yermshin delivered another Khrushchev message to Makarios, but a spokesman for the Greek Cypriot leader refused to divulge its contents.

Although he has expressed willingness to accept a foreign police force on the island, Makarios wants the troops under U.N. control. The United States and Britain have rejected this condition because they regard it as an opening for Soviet interference on Cyprus.

In the past, the Russians have opposed U.N. peacekeeping operations in the Middle East and the Congo.

In London, the British Foreign Office described Khrushchev's note as a "gross misrepresentation of the situation."

"It is impossible to believe it is intended to be a constructive contribution towards solving the Cyprus problem," the Foreign Office statement said.

A deadlock continued at the London peace conference on Cyprus. The Turkish Cypriot delegation flew home after describing the situation as very grim.

The Greek Cypriot representatives also were scheduled to return to Nicosia.

A new outbreak of shooting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots occurred Friday in the mountains overlooking the port of Kyrenia, on the north coast of Cyprus 25 miles from Nicosia.

2 Men Are Slain In Shooting Affray

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Two men were killed and three injured early today in a shooting affray at the Blythe-Williams American Legion Post.

Police said the shooting at 2:50 a.m. apparently resulted from a quarrel between Joe Davis, 30, and Eddie Adkins, 31. Both apparently drew revolvers.

Adkins and Carl Easter, 44, were killed and Davis was reported in good condition at Middletown Hospital with a gunshot wound in the left side. Eddie Williams, 38, shot in the left hand, and Charles Jackson, 31, wounded in the left arm, were treated at the hospital and released.

Police said all the men lived in Middletown.

CONFERRING ON CUBA — Secretary of State Dean Rusk (right) and CIA director John McCone leave the White House following a conference called by President Johnson with major advisors on Fidel Castro's water cutoff at the Guantanamo Naval Base.

U.S. Seeks To Tighten Economic Noose on Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is appealing to Allied governments to join in tightening an economic noose around Cuba following President Johnson's decision to separate the Guantanamo naval base completely from the Cuban economy and water supply.

Johnson in effect told Cuba to keep its water.

The presidential decision was announced by the State Department Friday night after a day-long series of conferences on how the United States should react to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's action Thursday in cutting the fresh water supply to the naval base.

At the same time a White House statement warned of the dangers of "further provocations by Castro" and declared that the prospects "should be carefully weighed by all nations."

This was taken to include a prod to the Kremlin to consider where Soviet support of the Cuban regime may be leading.

"The reckless and irresponsible conduct of the Cuban government remains a constant threat to the peace of this hemisphere," the White House said.

It added that "these matters" will be discussed with other Western Hemisphere nations in the Organization of American States and with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies.

Shortly before the White House announcement that Guantanamo would be made self-sufficient in water supplies, Secretary of State Dean Rusk pictured Castro as probably undertaking a concerted campaign to force the United States to abandon the big naval base on Cuba's eastern end.

"The basic fact is," Rusk told a news conference, "that we are in Guantanamo and will remain there for the foreseeable future."

Later Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos issued a statement on Havana radio to, he said, rebut Rusk's declaration that "we are making a premeditated campaign to expel the United States from Guantanamo."

"We will claim the base in the moment we consider convenient and will use the ways of international organizations that we will consider convenient for our claim," said Dorticos.

Florida Lashed By Rainstorm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy rainstorms and winds that gusted up to 60 miles per hour lashed Florida today. Tornado warnings were in effect for several hours in the Daytona Beach-Tampa area.

The big thaw continued in the southern Great Plains after several days of blizzard-type weather. At least 15 persons perished, four Friday in a plane crash. Some highways in Texas were coated with two feet of ice.

The Southeastern storm dumped rain over most of Florida and the Carolinas. Gainesville in northern Florida reported 1.3 inches during a six-hour period. About .25 inch fell in the Carolinas.

Viet Nam Chief Names Cabinet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, South Viet Nam's 36-year-old strong man, announced the formation of a new government today with himself as premier.

Dapper in paratrooper's fatigues, Khanh read the list of Cabinet officers from the steps of his office building and vowed to "bring forth all our strength to repel Communist aggression, to bring security to our people, especially those in the countryside."

Khanh named the popular Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh as chief of state. Minh, leader of the deposed military junta, is expected to have only nominal power.

Minh will live in Saigon's Gia Long Palace, formerly occupied by the late President Ngo Dinh Diem. Minh, who led the coalition of generals that ousted the Diem regime last Nov. 1, was overthrown by Khanh's swift, bloodless coup on Jan. 30.

While a crowd of politicians, diplomats and newsmen listened in a parking lot below, Khanh disclosed his list of three deputy premiers, five ministers and 10 secretaries of state.

Explaining what he called the new government's historic mission to save the country, Khanh said: "Every act aimed at sowing disunity and act of sabotage beneficial to the Communists and neutralists will constitute a crime against the people of the motherland."

Tax Agency Corruption Rooted Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service expects to make additional arrests in the next few weeks as it steps up its campaign to root out corruption in its ranks.

Thirteen persons have been arrested this year, including seven IRS employees, in bribery and embezzlement cases. Six were arrested last week in New York City.

More arrests in the New York case are predicted by U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau. Arrests also are expected in other areas.

Mortimer M. Caplin, IRS commissioner, declined to make any predictions about future arrests although he had said previously that the New York investigation is continuing.

Caplin said increased arrests stem from the IRS' three-year campaign against internal corruption.

Attempted bribes have been reported by 126 IRS employees over the past three years.

Of 101 arrests involving internal corruption during that period, 45 were in the New York region. Next highest was Cincinnati with 16. Boston had 9, Philadelphia 8 and Chicago 7.

The IRS conducts about 10,000 investigations and 350 audits a year as checks on its own employees.

Haystack Hairdo Britons Arrive

NEW YORK (AP) — The Beatles, Britain's rock 'n' rollers with the haystack hairdos, blew up a teen-age storm by arriving here.

It was mostly girls, girls, girls.

"I love them, I love them!" cried one.

HEADS FOR HOUSE — The Senate passed an $11.6 billion tax cut bill that will benefit nearly every individual and corporation in the nation. It now goes to a conference with the House. This chart is calculated for a taxpayer with a wife and two children and shows what the tax cut would mean.

Here Are Major Points In Senate Tax Cut Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the major provisions of the $11.6-billion tax cut bill passed by the Senate Friday:

Individual Rates — The present schedule of 20 to 91 per cent would be reduced to 14 to 70 per cent, with two-thirds of the cut effective in 1964 retroactive to Jan. 1, one-third in 1965. The Senate and House bills are identical.

Withholding from Salaries and Wages — The Senate bill would cut rates from the present 18 per cent to a 14 per cent one week after the measure is signed. The House bill would cut it to 15 per cent this year, 14 per cent starting in 1965.

Corporate Rates — The present 52 per cent tax—30 per cent normal, 22 per cent surtax—cut to 50 per cent this year retroactive to Jan. 1, 48 per cent starting in 1965. Normal and surtax rates would be reversed so they would wind up 22 per cent normal and 26 per cent surtax next year to give a greater break to small firms. The Senate and House bills are identical.

Capital Gains — The House bill would cut rates on stock or other assets held more than two years so any gain would be taxed at 40 per cent of normal levy with a 21 per cent ceiling and would retain the present rate of 50 per cent of regular tax with a 25 per cent ceiling for those held six months to two years. The Senate bill would continue present rates unchanged.

Itemized Deductions — The House bill would deny deductions, now permitted, for state gasoline taxes, auto tags, drivers' licenses, liquor taxes, tobacco taxes and certain excise taxes including those on admissions and hotel rooms. The Senate bill would continue deductions on gasoline taxes, auto tags and drivers' licenses.

Stock Dividend Credit Income — Both bills would repeal the 4 per cent credit on stock dividend income which may now be subtracted from taxes due. They also would double the present exclusion of such income from taxable income; the new allowances would be $100 for an individual, $200 for a married couple.

Minimum Standard Deduction — This feature, the same in both bills, would allow a flat deduction of $300 for each taxpayer plus $100 for each exemption after his own. It could be used as an alternative to the present deduction of 10 per cent of gross income up to a $1,000 maximum.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Court Judge Frank Wilson may decide over the weekend if Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy should answer a defense summons in the trial of James R. Hoffa on charges of jury tampering.

Lawyers for the president of the Teamsters Union got subpoenas for Kennedy and two other top Justice Department officials just before court recessed for the weekend. The summonses climaxed a hectic day of name calling by the defense and a near fight between Hoffa and a U.S. marshal.

A Justice Department spokesman in Washington said the subpoenas were unnecessary.

"If the judge decides that the attorney general and assistant attorney general can contribute relevant testimony, of course they will be willing to go to Chattanooga without being subpoenaed," the spokesman said.

Subpoenas were issued for Kennedy, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and Herbert Miller, who heads the department's criminal division.

The defense wants Kennedy and the others to appear Monday for a special hearing on its charges that Hoffa and his five codefendants are being spied on by government officials here.

Senate Votes $11.6 Billion In Reductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders, spurred on by President Johnson, today fixed Feb. 19 or 20 as the goal for final action on the largest tax cut in U.S. history.

The benefits, including more dollars in take-home pay, would begin about the first of March.

The Senate passed its $11.6-billion version of the legislation Friday, 77 to 21, well ahead of the original Feb. 11 deadline fixed by its leaders.

Even before the final vote, Johnson was conferring with his Capitol Hill lieutenants about speeding up plans for the Senate-House conference to reconcile the differences between the two chambers' versions.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., who heads the Senate delegation, told a reporter it was decided to begin the conference next Monday instead of Feb. 17 as planned earlier.

He said that the conferees could meet only on Monday and Tuesday next week since Republicans will be leaving town for Lincoln Day speeches.

But he said the explanation of what changes the Senate made in the $11.1-billion version passed by the House would be covered in those two days, so that voting can start when the conference reconvenes on Feb. 17.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., another conferee, said that under this schedule the Senate-House group should be able to come up with compromise bill by Feb. 18 or 19. A final vote could come one day later.

Rights Fight Nears Climax

Fair Employment Provision Debated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House civil-rights fight reaches its climax today with a bipartisan drive to write a fair employment practices provision into the bill.

Southern opponents, who have been overwhelmed by a coalition of Republicans and Northern Democrats on every other section, hope to gain enough support to kill the employment provision.

House leaders want to finish action on the provision and three other minor ones and put the entire bill to a final vote tonight.

But Southerners won assurances no effort would be made to limit debate in order to meet the deadline, thus leaving the possibility that a final vote wouldn't come until Monday.

The controversial provision would create a federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission empowered to investigate complaints of racial discrimination in hiring, firing and promotion practices among businesses and labor unions.

The commission would have to go into court and win its case to get enforcement of its orders.

Standing on its own, such legislation has fared poorly in the House for years. Fair employment practices bills die regularly in committee without ever reaching the floor.

But under the drive for strong civil rights legislation touched off last summer by the widespread demonstrations by Negroes, the House Judiciary Committee included the provision in its 10-part package. Now it is asking the House to keep it in.

Two other sections on which stiff fights were expected turned into easy victories for the coalition.

One, outlawing racial discrimination in places of public accommodation, was approved Wednesday. The other, authorizing a cutoff of federal funds for programs in which discrimination is practiced, was approved Friday night.

The Beatles, their records best sellers for months, were almost an American institution before they got here. Already on sale are Beatle wigs, boots, T-shirts, sweatshirts, toss pillows and scarves. In Britain, 20,000 rag-mop wigs have been sold.

The adulation of the Beatles is reminiscent of the grip Frank Sinatra had on teen-agers some years ago and, more recently, of Elvis Presley.

But when a newsmen described them as "four Elvis Presleys" the foursome shouted in unison: "No, no, no!"

The Beatles began their debut in a Liverpool jazz cellar 15 months ago for about $20 a week. They now command $10,000 a performance and are reputed to have earned $17 million.

Grand Jury Shuns Brown In Vote Fuss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said he would ask the Justice Department today to look into alleged election irregularities in Lawrence County's Washington and Decatur townships.

Brown told of his plans Friday night a few hours after the Lawrence County grand jury reported it found no substantiated evidence of fraud in the election last Nov. 5.

"I have the greatest respect for the constituted authority of the courts but I must say that I feel the situation in Lawrence County warrants further investigation."

"I shall now ask the Justice Department to make an investigation in Lawrence County to see if constitutional rights have been infringed upon," Brown said.

Common Pleas Judge Warren Earhart a short time before criticized state officials for starting the probe and added that "an investigation should be made on why state money is spent in this fashion."

The judge said 101 statements were taken in the investigation and that later one of Brown's own investigators admitted that about 90 of them contained hearsay.

Farm Efficiency Sets New Record

Farmers are continuing to set new records in farm production efficiency, according to information released recently by the United States Department of Agriculture.

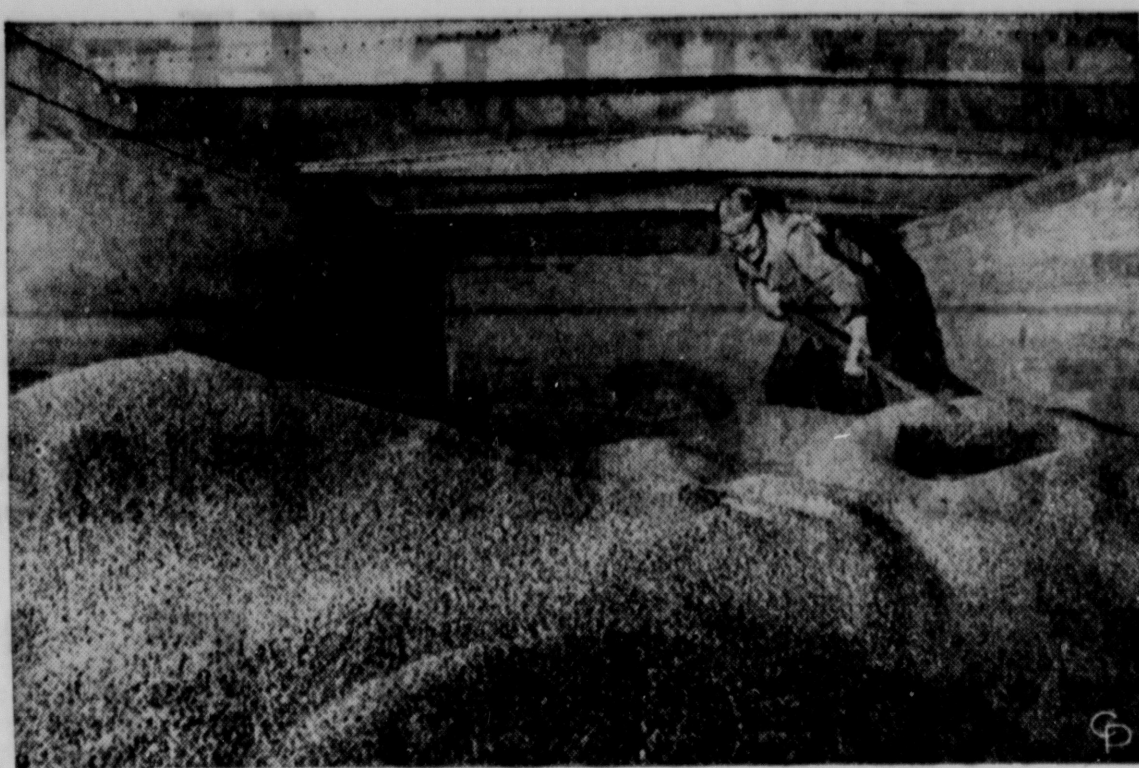

During 1962, the last year on which statistics are complete, labor used on farms reached a new low of 9.1 billion man-hours, a decrease of four per cent from the previous year and a continuation of a steady long-term trend. This came in the face of new peaks in total farm output.

Growing and harvesting of crops took about 4.2 billion man-hours during the year. Work with livestock required 3.7 billion. The remaining time was spent on farm maintenance and other overhead work.

Farm output per man-hour of labor in 1962 was almost six per cent higher than in 1961.

THE TOTAL value of agricultural production inputs continued at the same level in 1962 as in the two previous years. Farmers were increasingly dependent on the nonfarm sector of the economy for production goods and services. This reflects the increased specialization and use of improved practices in farming.

Breaking production records is nothing new for American farmers. But the fact that they continue to set new peaks in output without increasing the overall total of production inputs is a noteworthy achievement for American agriculture.

A DAIRY barn ventilating system makes the building more comfortable to work in, reduces rotting of wood and rusting of metal and, because livestock troubles are kept to a minimum, makes it possible to produce more and better milk.

THE BOTHERSOME and sometimes destructive problem of birds in hay lofts can be solved by the use of a flashing light. A revolving cylinder with two amber and two clear lenses placed over a 75 watt bulb will annoy the birds and drive them away.

THE AMOUNT of horsepower required to move soil on United States farms each year would move a ridge of soil 100 feet high and a mile wide from New York to San Francisco, says the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service.

AN ARIZONA farmer operating a New Holland self-propelled forage harvester chopped 28,000 tons of silage in one year. Used as feed for cows, this can be converted into enough milk or the annual consumption of a city of 95,000 people.

MORE THAN half of the living Nobel Prize winners who went to college in the United States earned degrees from Land-Grant colleges.

IN TERMS of contributions to the country's gross national product, the gain in output per man-hour for agriculture during the last decade was more than double the figure for industry, according to the University of Maryland.

SINCE 1950, milk production in the United States has increased from 117 billion pounds to about 126 billion pounds, a jump of eight per cent. Production per cow rose from 1,000 pounds to 7,300 pounds.

COMMON WARTS in cattle are caused by a virus and are infectious. Normal sanitation measures will prevent the spread of warts and a vaccine is also available for immunization, prevention and treatment of the animals.

MORE THAN 46 per cent of the nation's milk supply is used as fluid milk and cream. Most of the remainder is prepared as butter, cheese and ice cream; evaporated, condensed and non-fat dry milk and other dairy products.

Record Is Set in Feeding Of Dairy Cattle in U.S.

The total quantity of grain and other concentrates fed to dairy cows in 1962 hit a new record of 21.6 million tons, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. This new total was three per cent above the 1961 figure.

Although the number of cows on farms declined again in 1962, the rate of feeding per cow increased enough to more than offset the downward trend. Dairywomen fed an average of 2,533 pounds of grain and other concentrates feeds per cow, five per cent more than the 1961 average.

The increased feeding rate in recent years has been in line with the uptrend in milk produced per cow.

The quantity of feed grains and other concentrates fed per 100 pounds of milk output also has gone up — but at a slower rate than the increase in the quantity fed per cow.

CORN HAS been taking a larger share of the grain in dairy rations of late. The change is due to the relatively low prices for corn compared to other feed grains. As a result, corn was 36.7 per cent of the total concentrates fed in 1962 compared to 31 per cent in 1956.

An average of 31.9 per cent of the total dairy concentrates fed in 1962 were commercially prepared. Dairywomen in the Midwest continued to rely largely on locally produced feed for their cows during 1962, while farmers in the North Atlantic and western states bought more commercially prepared dairy rations.

By regions, the proportion of commercially mixed feeds in the total concentrates fed were: East North Central states, 7.7 per cent; West North Central, 12.7 per cent; South Atlantic, about 37 per cent; South Central, 46 per cent; North Atlantic region, nearly 60 per cent; and western states, 66 per cent.

Scholarship Program Is Offered Again

During the next school year, 54 outstanding seniors in colleges of agriculture located throughout North America and in the United States territorial possessions will again be completing their undergraduate work with the assistance of the Ralston Purina Scholarship Program.

The $500 Purina Scholarship is awarded to one deserving incoming senior at each of the 50 United States land-grant colleges. It is also awarded in three Canadian agricultural colleges and in one college in Puerto Rico.

The student selected to receive the scholarship is recommended by a scholarship committee consisting of faculty members of the college.

This will be the tenth year of the Purina Scholarships. During the first nine years, the program has awarded 476 students to finish their senior year.

Letters are now being sent by the Purina to all eligible colleges offering the 1964-65 scholarships, according to an announcement by Dr. R. C. Eaton, director of Public relations. The faculty committee chooses the recipient on the basis of his scholastic record, participation in campus affairs, and eligibility for financial assistance.

Coal, oil, and limestone — essentials of steelmaking — are all of fossil origin. Coal is the compressed remains of vegetable debris of swampy lands; oil decomposed plants and animals from ancient sea basins; limestone, an accumulation of the skeletons of marine invertebrates.

Club were held at the 4-H and Grange Building.

Officers were elected for the year. They are: David Schein, president; Barbara Vance, vice president; Donna Kempton, secretary; Lynda Writsel, treasurer; Debbie Ankrom, news reporter.

Advisers for the club are Mrs. Sterling Poling, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunkel, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schein and Bill Rihl.

The amount of $2 per year for dues was decided on by the members. There will be two rehearsals a month. The business meetings are to be held during rehearsal breaks. Uniforms were discussed but no decision was made.

Rhodes' Austerity Plan Slated To Swing into 'Hard' Phase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's austerity-in-government program swings into its "hard" phase Monday.

Acting on orders from Gov. James A. Rhodes, Finance Director Richard Krabach begins a department-by-department check on action to carry out "Little Hoover" Commission recommendations.

The commission, composed of management experts "borrowed" from industry, suggested more than 500 ways to save about $51 million a year.

Krabach assigned Charles Auer, former management supervisor for General Motors Corp., to start with the Agriculture Department and go down the list.

What the finance chief wants is "hard" savings that can be translated into operating budget reductions despite mounting outside pressure to go easy.

Various commission recommendations for savings already have been carried out, it was explained. But money saved often was used in other ways.

For example, a $15,000 annual savings on purchases of woollens under revised bidding practices by the Mental Hygiene Department went for additional patient care.

Now the emphasis will shift, except in the mental hygiene and education departments, to savings that will actually reduce expenditures, Krabach stressed.

"We will do our utmost to follow this report," Rhodes told Commission Chairman Howard Bishop of Youngstown when the recommendations were completed last November after a six-month survey.

Veteran state employees, recalling inaction on previous surveys, shrugged knowingly.

Some of them now appear less complacent.

Technicalities could thin the largest field of candidates for major office in the May 5 primary. Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and election boards are checking closely on petitions filed by Raymond W. Berringer, Toledo, for the Democratic U.S. senatorial nomination. Earlier petition changes were approved. Five aspirants are in the Democratic race.

Controversy over a proposal to lease a slice of Mohican State Forest for a ski run has taken a surprising turn. After protests to Gov. James A.

Rhodes by the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs and others, attorneys discovered that a 200-acre section for a war veterans' memorial in Ashland County never was properly set aside.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown will take his "traveling office" on the road next Tuesday. The schedule: Feb. 11 Toledo, Feb. 13 Mansfield; Feb. 17 Youngstown and Canton, Feb. 19 Zanesville, Feb. 20 Springfield and Dayton, Feb. 21 Cincinnati, Feb. 24 Cleveland, Feb. 25 Lima, Feb. 27 Portsmouth and Athens, Feb. 28 Columbus. During the tour, Brown will interview and swear in appointees to 176 posts on county election boards.

Red Viet Cong Is Many Things to Many People

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—In less than five years, a shadowy political organization called the South Viet Nam National Liberation Front has expanded from a handful of members to a position as America's No. 1 shooting enemy.

The front has grown since 1959 from a few thousand organizers to an estimated 300,000 active members. Occasional front supporters may number four to five million.

The front is many things to many people.

To an American helicopter pilot, it is a farmer who suddenly turns into a battlewise Viet Cong regular dealing death with a heavy machine gun from a camouflaged bunker.

To a remote hamlet resident, the front may be a pretty young girl with a bag of medicines for sick and wounded villagers and an engaging way of talking to children.

To another hamlet resident, the front may be a self-assured young man with a pistol who comes around once a month demanding his rice tax payment.

To Western statesmen, the front is Communist China's militant spearhead in a drive to conquer all Southeast Asia.

To the man in the street it is known as the Viet Cong — the South Vietnamese Communists. Ironically, very few members of the front are Communists at though Communist members are the undisputed leaders.

The nominal chairman of the front, Nguyen Huu Tho, is regarded as a non-Communist. Tho, a lawyer with a reputation as a lady's man, has never been a strong figure.

The secretary general of the front, former mathematics teacher Nguyen Van Hieu, probably has more power. Hieu has made frequent trips throughout the Communist bloc in the past two years. Another top leader is Tran Bui Kim, a former executive of the old Democratic party.

The real strength of the organization is in its tightly knit, interlocking cells. The hardcore organizers are about 4,000 agents organized into "Agi Prop" teams of four or five men each that carry the word through the country.

A typical Agi Proper — Propaganda — team, armed to the teeth, generally enters a village at about dusk to begin its work. The general slogan of all the teams is so simple as to be virtually meaningless: "Independence, Freedom, Peace and Unification."

The team gathers peasants together, forcibly if necessary — and lectures on five basic themes:

Johnson ordered the Defense Department to make Guantanamo self-sufficient.

With this order, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the statement said, issued instructions to:

"Assure the base control over its own water supply both by conversion of sea water to fresh water and by the transportation of water by ship.

"Reduce the employment of Cuban personnel who are subject to the control of the Cuban government and whose wages contribute to its foreign exchange."

Asked if the Cuban water would be used if Castro turned it back on, a Defense Department spokesman said, "No. The new instruction means that we do not anticipate having to use water again from that source."

Administration officials said the President and his advisers believe the decision on the American response is appropriate to the challenge posed by Castro in closing the pipeline to the base.

Despite initial anger at Castro's move the President's advisers now consider it a harassment rather than a serious threat and therefore not requiring more forceful countermeasures.

The actions ordered by Johnson will cost Castro more than $5 million a year when they are fully carried out.

The Guantanamo base employs about 3,000 Cubans, of whom 500 live on the base. The earnings of the 2,500 who live in Cuba proper have put more than $5 million a year into the Cuban economy, giving Castro much needed dollars for use in international trade.

Officials said that the 2,500 will be given the choice of making their homes on the base or in some cases of spending their dollars there for such things as food and drugs instead of making their purchases in the Cuban economy.

Those who do not cooperate in these measures to keep the dollars away from the Castro government will be dismissed, it was said.

Another dollar earner for Castro has been the supplying of water from a plant on the Yateras River about five miles outside the Guantanamo boundary. The United States has paid $14,000 a month for the water.

U.S. officials were not sure how the European allies would react to the new appeal to increase economic pressures on Cuba.

Undersecretary of State George Ball made the initial approach Friday in meetings with the British ambassador Sir David Ormsby-Gore and the French ambassador, Herve Alphand.

Ball argued that Castro's new action constituted an example of the kind of provocative moves which on a large scale could create a dangerous and explosive situation once more in the Western Hemisphere.

Only Friday, however, it was disclosed that a French firm has sold 300 heavy-duty trucks to Cuba with the assistance of a financial guarantee from the French government. French informants estimated the amount of the contract at $10 million. The trucks are believed to be badly needed by Castro.

Earlier the Leyland Motor Co. of Britain sold $11 million worth of buses to Cuba.

There have been reports that the Cubans were negotiating in various Western European countries for a variety of industrial supplies which they badly need.

The aim of U.S. policy for several years has been to isolate Cuba from trade with the non-Communist nations and make Castro completely dependent on Soviet support. That support has been costing Moscow about one million dollars a day. The reasoning was that such pressures eventually would force radical changes inside Cuba and lead to the overthrow of the Communist Castro regime.

Officials concede that the policy will be punched full of holes unless the United States can get other countries to withhold the trade that Castro needs.

Lake Erie Oil Drilling Eyed

Off-Shore Rights May Be Granted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Department of Natural Resources had disclosed that negotiations are under way for leasing off-shore Lake Erie waters for gas drilling operations.

Fred E. Morr, director of the department, made the announcement on a project that has been discussed previously without any action being taken.

Now, the Ohio Recreation and Resources Commission has declared itself "all in favor" of off shore leasing by the state.

Chief Geologist Ralph Bernhagen told the commission that recent reports show that the oil well drilling operations, now centered in Morrow County, reveal that sub-strata running north through there has a large gas producing potential.

Henry K. Hall, chief of real estate for the department, said Canada has allowed drillers to sink 50 holes into the nation's half of Lake Erie. He added that he has been negotiating with George Mitchell Associates, Inc., of Houston, Tex. The firm proposes to lease 600,000 acres of Lake Erie between Ashtabula and the Canadian borderline.

Mitchell Associates at first wanted to pay Ohio five cents an acre a year and eight per cent of its gross profits for drilling rights, Hall said.

"We took exception to this," Hall said, adding that he countered with a demand for 15 cents an acre annually plus 12 1/2 per cent of the profits.

The commission asked that a study be made of possible affects of the off-shore drilling on fish and boating. Morr instructed Hall and Bernhagen to prepare a map dividing Lake Erie into sections for eventual leasing.

The commission also endorsed a plan that proposed oil well drilling on the Mt. Gilead State Park in Morrow County be done as a "educational tool" to demonstrate conservation techniques. It asked Morr's staff to come up with such a plan.

The "granddaddy" of all John Deere tractors, made in 1892

John Froelich, successful maker of stationary gasoline engines, had an idea. Why not put the engine on wheels and use it to drive those wheels both forward and backward? This was unprecedented — for 1892 — but it worked and Froelich went demonstrating his "one-lunger" from farm to farm around Waterloo, Iowa, belching smoke from the low-grade fuel then available.

Gasoline in those days resembled LANDMARK'S modern high-octane Fyr-Zon gasoline about as much as this museum piece resembles today's efficient John Deere tractors. It burned, but that was about all. Unknown in 1892 were such additives as a lead scavenger, upper cylinder lubricant, carburetor cleaner or de-icer such as LANDMARK Fyr-Zon contains today.

Only Fyr-Zon has PLUS 4 additive containing these four elements your engines need.

It was 1893 when John Froelich organized the Waterloo Gasoline Tractor Engine Co., and put his invention into "production" — making and selling two, both of which were returned!

However, by 1918, Froelich had sold over 8,000 improved tractors and in that year joined with John Deere to launch a new era of farm progress based on tractor power.

Mechanized farm progress was based as well on liquid fuel power — fuels like LANDMARK Fyr-Zon gasoline that has been improved constantly, just as tractors have been improved. Fyr-Zon will give you every ounce of power your new tractor was designed to produce!

Switch now to Landmark Fyr-Zon Plus 4,

Report on Junketing

That time of year is approaching again when congressional committees must face the day of reckoning insofar as their junketing members are concerned. In few weeks each committee must submit an itemized report on all major trips members of the group took in the last year. These reports will be available for public perusal.

Don't anticipate any explosive revelations in the reports, though. Although it was congressional legislation which mandated the filing of annual detailed expense accounts, many committees have found convenient loopholes which prevent the full disclosure the public thought it would receive.

Each year, however, individual congressmen manage to add additional fuel to arguments in favor of meaningful disclosure. The past year it was the continued hijinks of Adam Clayton Powell and a group of legislators who took the head waiter of the House restaurant to the NATO parliamentarians' conference in Paris.

More than a half million dollars was spent by traveling congressmen in 1963, almost all of it out of the taxpayers' pockets. Some of the funds were wisely spent on information trips which aided the participants to legislate intelligently.

But not all. Rep. H. R. Gross, who has been one of the most persistent critics of junketing, sees little that is worthwhile emanating from the trips and the possibility of a great amount of waste.

It is rather strange that the most popular destinations are Hawaii, Hong Kong and other pleasant vacation retreats. Few congressmen ever show their faces in the jungles of South Viet Nam, the frigid outposts in the Antarctic or the current Latin hot spots.

Perhaps if the average solon did concern himself more with legitimate business, took his wife along a little less frequently and wasn't seen so often on the foreign nightclub circuit, junketing would cease to be a suspect pastime.

Since the millennium has not arrived and congressmen are no less susceptible to temptation than other men, full disclosure at least threatens the recalcitrant globe-trotter with embarrassment before his constituents. Such a punishment is as effective as any other in the case of an elected official, but only if full disclosure means what it says.

The amount involved in congressional junketing is small — much less for all 535 members than some presidents have spent on trips in similar periods. But how can a congressman criticize wasteful presidential junketing if full revelations are not made?

What the Polls Don't Tell

By John Chamberlain

The trouble with polls is that, while they count heads and accurately tally "yes" and "no" responses, they fail to measure such qualitative aspects as intensity of conviction. This particular failure is likely to lead the Republicans wildly astray in trying to get a line on the future of their Party come November.

For, make no mistake about it, the widely varying degrees of emotional commitment to the various Republican presidential candidates must create a nightmare for the prognosticators. Nobody knows what degree of grudge will be expressed by the followers of any specific candidate if his claims are ignored.

That attitude of the Young Republicans poses the worst enigma for the Party. There was that poll taken recently in Washington D. C., of 221 out of 400 workers attending the Young Republican Leadership Training School. The poll went 82.7 per cent for Goldwater, 5.2 per cent for Scranton, 4.2 per cent for Rockefeller, 2.1 per cent for Stassen, 2 per cent for Nixon, 1.8 per cent for Lodge, and 1 per cent for Romney. One per cent was undecided. Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine didn't get a single vote.

Now, any group that is in training for Republican leadership ought to be for the Party regardless of the candidates that are ultimately chosen. But I have talked with a lot of the Youth for Goldwater workers, and, while they are often eager on the subject as it relates to specific personalities, many of them are insistent that they must be presented with a conservative national slate, "or else." The "or else" might imply a vote for Lyndon Johnson on a "serve the Republican liberals right" basis, or it might indicate a tacit promise to go fishing for fish, not voters, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

Some of the Young Republican cats would jump differently for a Scranton or a Nixon running under reasonably conservative colors than they would for an outright "liberal." But there would undoubtedly be a number who would skip the election, or register a revengeful vote, or simply fail to put on the pressure for any candidate who had usurped the place of an adored idol.

If Goldwater can't make it on the first or second ballot the question at the Republican convention in San Francisco will become one for an insurance actuary's approach. And this approach means that the candidates whose utterances clearly place them on the "liberal" end of the ideological spectrum haven't a chance. The risk of Goldwaterite defections from a party committed to a "liberal" would be too great.

The actuary's approach rules out such committed "liberals" as Senator Kuchel of California and Henry Cabot Lodge. As of the moment, it rules out Nelson Rockefeller. The latter, however, might still hope to repair his fences by doing some fast talking in the numerous primaries to which he is committed.

Simply because of the Goldwaterites' intensity of conviction, the candidates who have said the least before next July will have the best opportunity to woo the numerous intransigent. "We want Barry" people in the aftermath of a Goldwater withdrawal. Both Richard Nixon and Pennsylvania's William Scranton, having made no deep ideological commitment, will be in position to make a deal with Barry's lieutenants, the quick pro quo being a willingness to take conservative positions and to reward Goldwater supporters.

Whether a deal would spread enough oil on the troubled Republican waters to insure a good campaign against Lyndon Johnson is another story. The professional pollsters will have a hard time getting an answer to that one, for no party worker is likely to admit his real feelings for fear of earning the reputation of being a traitor to the Republican organization.

A surprising statistic that turned up in the Young Republican Leadership Training School poll for Vice President was the 16.9 per cent vote for Congressman Bill Miller of New York. Bill, of course, has worked with the Young Republicans as National Committee head, and they have come to trust him. Well, why not a Bill Miller boom for first place on the ticket if a soothing compromise choice must be accepted? Miller, at least, would work like a dog to hold the GOP together, and to win.

The breast, in health and disease, is a focal point of attention for patients and physicians. Like all other organs of the body, the breast is subject to inflammation and infection, tumors (benign and malignant) and injuries. The greatest interest, of course, is concentrated about the early discovery, diagnosis and treatment of tumors, cysts and "false growths" of the breast.

It is estimated that almost thirty per cent of all adult women at some time in their lives are aware of and are examined for irregular "lumps" of the breast. Dr. R. Cameron Harrison of Edmonton, Canada has outlined a series of important differences between a false and a true mass (tumor) of the breast.

He notes that irregularities are frequently apparent in the breast just before normal menstruation. He emphasizes the need for constant reassurance that these false masses are neither cancer nor harbingers of cancer. He states that "It is most important to separate that true mass from the false mass before the decision for particular treatment is established."

Modern techniques of biopsy (study of tissue under a microscope) and of special X-ray in most instances can readily determine the nature of the growth. These, in combination with clinical examination and medical experience, can usually make the diagnosis.

Mammography is a highly detailed and successful X-ray method of studying the very fine, soft tissue of the breast. The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sheer embarrassment of power from which this country suffers was reflected best, perhaps, in Congress as Fidel Castro cut off most of the water supply of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo in Cuba.

One member after another Thursday got up to say this country must do something, while being vague on what. Not Sen. Barry Goldwater, up in New Hampshire campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination.

He had a very simple solution: Send in the Marines to turn on the water. But the answer isn't quite that simple, as President Johnson decided later.

While this country has the power to crush Castro in a minute, it first has to worry about a couple of other things, either of which, if it happened, might do more damage than Castro:

1. It must be careful how it throws its power around at a time when it is preaching reasonable settlements, trying to influence small and backward nations, and arguing their right to self-determination.

2. It doesn't know what Russia would do. If this country took military action against Castro and Russia leaped to his defense, what started out as a minor foray would be a world war.

Russia, the other big master power, suffers exactly the same embarrassment with its own problems, never knowing what to expect from this country if it gets aggressive.

Thus the two giants, clothed in more power than any nations in history, are in a dreadful kind of stand-off. A war between them would destroy them both, and aggression by either would unhinge their influence.

Nobody understands this embarrassed immobility of the giants better than French President Charles de Gaulle. He feels free to butt in all over, talking of French prestige while looking for business for French traders.

And certainly Castro and others, like Panama, understand it. Both Cuba and Panama have defied the United States but in such a way — by arguing legality — as to have some plausibility and win sympathy.

Panama protests the American-Panamanian treaty of 1903 which gave this country a right to stay in Panama's Canal Zone forever, a treaty arranged when Panama was even weaker and more helpless than it is now.

Castro is irked by another 1903 treaty, this one American-Cuban, arranged when Cuba was also far weaker than now. It gives the United States the right to the Guantanamo naval base as long as it wants to stay there.

Castro, instead of banging head-on into this country over the base, has tackled it obliquely, since Russia undoubtedly wouldn't help him try to run the United States out.

That 1903 treaty doesn't give Americans at the base the right to Cuban water. But long ago a private company contracted to supply the base with water from a Cuban river. When Castro took over Cuba, he took over the company and has kept on selling the base the water for $14,000 a month.

Last Sunday the U. S. Coast Guard seized four Cuban fishing vessels off the Florida Coast, charged they were operating within American territorial waters and turned them and their crews over to Florida authorities.

Nine crewmen were released for various reasons. 29 were held, Castro argued they had not been seized in American waters but in intercontinental waters.

So he announced: The Guantanamo water supply from Cuba would be shut off until the rest of the crewmen were released. Thursday night, he said he would turn on the water for one hour daily.

The United States can supply water to the base by its own devices without any water from inside Cuba. But this means millions of gallons a week. That's both a lot of water and a lot of trouble.

This country could make life easier for itself by yielding to Castro and releasing the prisoners, provided he turned on the water again. But this would be a Castro victory.

The Castro and Panamanian defiance, if successful, would be an encouragement to other small nations, knowing this country's embarrassment of power, to twist its nose at a time when the United States is trying to play big friend, if no big brother, to small nations.

The United States can't take direct action without appearing an aggressor. If it stands pat, some will look on it as a bully. If it yields, it may be considered a patsy.

Johnson said Thursday night this country will supply the base with water from Florida. Since he said the United States could keep this up "indefinitely," it may be a long dispute.

Report on Junketing

That time of year is approaching again when congressional committees must face the day of reckoning insofar as their junketing members are concerned. In few weeks each committee must submit an itemized report on all major trips members of the group took in the last year. These reports will be available for public perusal.

Don't anticipate any explosive revelations in the reports, though. Although it was congressional legislation which mandated the filing of annual detailed expense accounts, many committees have found convenient loopholes which prevent the full disclosure the public thought it would receive.

Each year, however, individual congressmen manage to add additional fuel to arguments in favor of meaningful disclosure. The past year it was the continued hijinks of Adam Clayton Powell and a group of legislators who took the head waiter of the House restaurant to the NATO parliamentarians' conference in Paris.

More than a half million dollars was spent by traveling congressmen in 1963, almost all of it out of the taxpayers' pockets. Some of the funds were wisely spent on information trips which aided the participants to legislate intelligently.

But not all. Rep. H. R. Gross, who has been one of the most persistent critics of junketing, sees little that is worthwhile emanating from the trips and the possibility of a great amount of waste.

It is rather strange that the most popular destinations are Hawaii, Hong Kong and other pleasant vacation retreats. Few congressmen ever show their faces in the jungles of South Viet Nam, the frigid outposts in the Antarctic or the current Latin hot spots.

Perhaps if the average solon did concern himself more with legitimate business, took his wife along a little less frequently and wasn't seen so often on the foreign nightclub circuit, junketing would cease to be a suspect pastime.

Since the millennium has not arrived and congressmen are no less susceptible to temptation than other men, full disclosure at least threatens the recalcitrant globe-trotter with embarrassment before his constituents. Such a punishment is as effective as any other in the case of an elected official, but only if full disclosure means what it says.

The amount involved in congressional junketing is small — much less for all 535 members than some presidents have spent on trips in similar periods. But how can a congressman criticize wasteful presidential junketing if full revelations are not made?

What the Polls Don't Tell

By John Chamberlain

The trouble with polls is that, while they count heads and accurately tally "yes" and "no" responses, they fail to measure such qualitative aspects as intensity of conviction. This particular failure is likely to lead the Republicans wildly astray in trying to get a line on the future of their Party come November.

For, make no mistake about it, the widely varying degrees of emotional commitment to the various Republican presidential candidates must create a nightmare for the prognosticators. Nobody knows what degree of grudge will be expressed by the followers of any specific candidate if his claims are ignored.

The attitude of the Young Republicans poses the worst enigma for the Party. There was that poll taken recently in Washington D. C., of 221 out of 400 workers attending the Young Republican Leadership Training School. The poll went 82.7 per cent for Goldwater, 5.2 per cent for Rockefeller, 2.1 per cent for Stassen, 2 per cent for Nixon, 1.8 per cent for Lodge, and 1 per cent for Romney. One per cent was undecided. Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine didn't get a single vote.

Now, any group that is in training for Republican leadership ought to be for the Party regardless of the candidates that are ultimately chosen. But I have talked with a lot of the Youth for Goldwater workers, and, while they are often cagey on the subject as it relates to specific personalities, many of them are insistent that they must be presented with a conservative national slate, "or else." The "or else" might imply a vote for Lyndon Johnson on a "serve the Republican liberals right" basis, or it might indicate a tacit promise to go fishing for fish, not voters, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

Some of the Young Republican cats would jump differently for a Scranton or a Nixon running under reasonably conservative colors than they would for an outright "liberal." But there would undoubtedly be a number who would skip the election, or register a revengeful vote, or simply fail to put on the pressure for any candidate who had usurped the place of an adored idol.

If Goldwater can't make it on the first or second ballot the question at the Republican convention in San Francisco will become one for an insurance actuary's approach. And this approach means that the candidates whose utterances clearly place them on the "liberal" end of the ideological spectrum haven't a chance. Enthusiastic reports from all over the country indicate a high degree of success in early diagnosis with this sensitive X-ray method.

X-ray specialists (Roentgenologists) contribute vital information to the physician and the surgeon who contemplate the possibility of surgery. This new technique does not replace all the established ones but, rather, does it add materially to the total information on which successful treatment is based.

Mail-order medicine has for the first time attained real status in the United States and Denmark.

A "do-it-yourself" kit was devised by Dr. Hugh J. Davis, of Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, which is useful for the early detection of cancer of the cervix (opening of the uterus (womb)).

With a small, disposable tube and a preservative solution secretions are sent by mail to Dr. Davis who then analyzes the specimens by microscopic techniques. The program is so successful in detecting early cancer that Dr. Davis joined forces in a similar study with Dr. Finn Koch and Dr. Jens Nielsen of Copenhagen.

The kits were mailed to women in outlying areas where gynecologists (women's specialists) are not available. Simple but exact instructions for obtaining and returning the specimen make the total procedure uncomplicated and reliable.

Seventy-five per cent of the 10,500 women who received the kits cooperatively responded in this effort to uncover early, treatable and curable cancer of the cervix of the uterus.

This new and imaginative scientific venture has so many encouraging aspects that many countries are already laying the groundwork for their own educational "mail order" health preservation programs.

The Circle Was Squared

An Incomparable Heritage Became Another Tradition

EDITOR'S NOTE —McEwing (Mac) Noggle, Pickaway County's renowned historian, has compiled extensive information on tradition of the "Circle" in Circleville. His material describes early erection of the town in its famous circle, and then the "squaring" of the city that followed. Today's article, the first of two slated for publication, tells mainly on prehistoric background. Printed copies of the author's historical evaluation may be obtained at the Third National Bank on W. Main St.

By M. E. NOGGLE
Circleville, like many Ohio towns, was built on a prehistoric site.
However, unlike other settlements, it was not only founded on but laid out within and took its name from the circular portion of a large prehistoric enclosure.
These ancient works were attributed by the early historians, with scarcely a dissenting voice, to a race of men that preceded the present race of Indians. For want of a better name, this prehistoric race, so shrouded in mystery, was styled the Mound Builders, by reason of the remarkable works in the form of mounds or tumuli and embankments that alone remained to tell the story of a vanished and — so they thought — a vanquished race.
Proven by eminent archaeologists, we know today that these "Mound Builders" were no mythical tribe of people who became extinct prior to the advent of the Indian tribes, but were the ancestors of the Indians themselves.

There has never been a shred of evidence discovered for supposing the American Indian originated in the New World, as no modern or fossil forms of Anthropoid apes were ever found.
Inasmuch as we know these early people belonged to the Mongoloid division of mankind that originated in Asia, the questions arise as to how and why they emigrated from Asia to the American continent. Prehistoric man's limited and primitive methods of transportation compelled him to enter by the easiest and shortest route.
The only region in the New World which was close to the Old is that which is adjacent to Bering Strait. Therefore it is necessary to suppose that the peopling of the New World took place by way of Bering Strait, a channel of water about 60 miles wide, which separates Alaska from Siberia.
This channel is narrow enough so that on clear days the shores of Alaska are visible from the Siberian side. It is possible that the original groups, without realizing that they were settling new territory, came across to the new land by boat or even on foot because the strait freezes over a few months each year. It is possible that the strait was narrower in those days or that a land bridge existed.
The reason for emigrating

were probably those that have reacted on man and beast alike in all times: pressure by other stocks, dissatisfaction, wandering propensities, or need for new hunting and fishing grounds. Once in the New World, where food was more plentiful and climate more inviting, man stayed. There was no mass migration. It was a prolonged dribbling and spread of successive waves of people.
We do not know how long it took these invading bands to spread over two continents. At first it may have been slow. But as more people came, the tendency was to push southward.
We assume, without proof, that thousands of years of moving and multiplying accounts for the peopling of the New World.
The Circleville works, first described in 1772 by Reverend David Jones and later, in 1820, by Caleb Atwater, comprised a square enclosure connected with a circular one by means of short parallel walls. The circle was over 1100 feet in diameter and the adjoining square was 900 feet square, broken by openings or gateways.
A large mound was within the circle and several smaller ones were located in the square. As no scientific exploration was ever made at this site, it is not possible to identify definitely the people who built the enclosure.
However, similarity to other sites in the Scioto Valley such as Mound City and the Seip Groups, points to the Hopewell Culture of the prehistoric Indians as the builders.
The Hopewell Indians lived a sedentary life, practiced agriculture — cultivating corn, beans and tobacco. They made pottery and wove cloth of several types. Tool and ornaments were fashioned from a variety of materials such as silver, copper, meteoric iron, mica, stone, bone and wood.
They had elaborate burial customs, log - tomb burials and relocations and made great ceremonial offerings to the dead. All indications seem to prove that these people had a highly developed social order enabling them to plan and execute complicated earthworks.
It is generally believed that the Hopewell people lived in Ohio about 900 to 1100 years ago.

District Scouters Conduct Monthly Roundtable Meeting

FIRST-AID DEMONSTRATED — These two Scouts give a demonstration of first-aid techniques during Thursday's District Roundtable meeting. The Scouts are Danny Dick (left) and Mike Haley, both of Troop 170.

The Pickaway District Scouters Roundtable this week in the Lutheran Parish House was opened by Scouts of Troop 170.
On display were flower boxes, lead soldiers and lead cannons made by Cubs of Pack 170 led by Mrs. Mary Merriman. Scouts Mike Haley and Danny Dick, both of Troop 170, demonstrated bandaging, artificial respiration and other first-aid techniques.

Attending the Roundtable were Den Mothers Jane Morrow, Dot Russell and Mary Merriman; Cub masters Bob Armentrout and Bill Spradlin; Scoutmasters Don Bumen, Irvin Funk, Howard Russell and Ray Haley; Explorers Dick Compton, Fred Cullums, Ray Winner, Gregg Parker, Carl Stonerock, Creed Stonerock and Fred Wittich; and District Committeemen Ken Luna, Jack Walters, David Amos, Harry Diehl and Jim Farinet.
Next week is Boy Scout Week, and Pack 157 has a window display at the Thrifty Bakery on Main Street in New Holland. The new Explorer Post in Williamsport is planning a dance, and Troop 179 Williamsport and Troop 479 of Atlanta are selling tickets for a bean supper to be held Friday, March 6, in the Atlanta High School.
A movie of the recent Paul Bunyon Exposition in Detroit, Mich., was shown and narrated by Jim Farinet to give the group ideas for the forth coming Central Ohio Paul Bunyon Exposition. Also discussed were craftwork and recruiting of adult leaders. Members of Post 3 viewed a filmstrip about Explorer District Cabinet Meetings and plan to form their own Pickaway District Cabinet this month.
Dick Compton and Gene Dowler are organizing a Scouters Training Session for Feb. 16, 1-8 p. m., at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds. The session will include a carry-in dinner.
Jim Farinet closed the meeting with the playing of a phonograph record of the thoughts of a Scoutmaster standing by a campfire after his Scouts have gone to sleep in their tents, while a slide of Norman Rockwell's painting of this scene was projected.

BUNDLED UP—John F. Kennedy Jr. is bundled up for real winter weather as he starts getting acquainted with new Washington home.

The National Geographic Society's Explorers Hall rises from a marble podium that provides a classic base for soaring, columnlike fins. The marble fins terminate in a wide, clothed canopy.

ROTHMAN'S
Corner Pickaway & Franklin Circleville

The Circle Was Squared

An Incomparable Heritage
Became Another Tradition

EDITOR'S NOTE —McEwing (Mac) Noggle, Pickaway County's renowned historian, has compiled extensive information on tradition of the "Circle" in Circleville. His material describes early erection of the town in its famous circle, and then the "squaring" of the city that followed. Today's article, the first of two slated for publication, dwells mainly on prehistoric background. Printed copies of the author's historical evaluation may be obtained at the Third National Bank on W. Main St.

By M. E. NOGGLE
Circleville, like many Ohio towns, was built on a prehistoric site.

However, unlike other settlements, it was not only founded on but laid out within and took its name from the circular portion of a large pre-historic enclosure.

These ancient works were attributed by the early historians, with scarcely a dissenting voice, to a race of men that preceded the present race of Indians. For want of a better name, this prehistoric race, so shrouded in mystery, was styled the Mound Builders, by reason of the remarkable works in the form of mounds or tumuli and embankments that alone remained to tell the story of a vanished and — so they thought — a vanquished race.

Proven by eminent archaeologists, we know today that these "Mound Builders" were no mythical tribe of people who became extinct prior to the advent of the Indian tribes, but were the ancestors of the Indians themselves.

There has never been a shred of evidence discovered for supposing the American Indian originated in the New World, as no modern or fossil forms of Anthropoid apes were ever found.

Inasmuch as we know these early people belonged to the Mongoloid division of mankind that originated in Asia, the questions arise as to how and why they emigrated from Asia to the American continent. Pre-historic man's limited and primitive methods of transportation compelled him to enter by the easiest and shortest route.

The only region in the New World which was close to the Old is that which is adjacent to Bering Strait. Therefore it is necessary to suppose that the peopling of the New World took place by way of Bering Strait, a channel of water about 80 miles wide, which separates Alaska from Siberia.

This channel is narrow enough so that on clear days the shores of Alaska are visible from the Siberian side. It is possible that the original groups, without realizing that they were settling new territory, came across to the new land by boat or even on foot because the strait freezes over a few months each year. It is possible that the strait was narrower in those days or that a land bridge existed.

The reason for emigrating

were probably those that have reacted on man and beast alike in all times: pressure by other stocks, dissatisfaction, wandering propensities, or need for new hunting and fishing grounds. Once in the New World, where food was more plentiful and climate more inviting, man stayed. There was no mass migration. It was a prolonged dribbling and spread of successive waves of people.

We do not know how long it took these invading bands to spread over two continents. At first it may have been slow. But as more people came, the tendency was to push southward.

We assume, without proof, that thousands of years of moving and multiplying accounts for the peopling of the New World.

The Circleville works, first described in 1772 by Reverend David Jones and later, in 1820, by Caleb Atwater, comprised a square enclosure connected with a circular one by means of short parallel walls. The circle was over 1100 feet in diameter and the adjoining square was 900 feet square, broken by openings or gateways.

A large mound was within the circle and several smaller ones were located in the square. As no scientific exploration was ever made at this site, it is not possible to identify definitely the people who built the enclosure.

However, similarity to other sites in the Scioto Valley such as Mound City and the Seip Groups, points to the Hopewell Culture of the prehistoric Indians as the builders.

The Hopewell Indians lived a sedentary life, practiced agriculture — cultivating corn, beans and tobacco. They made pottery and wove cloth of several types. Tool and ornaments were fashioned from a variety of materials such as silver, copper, meteoric iron, mica, stone, bone and wood.

They had elaborate burial customs, log — tomb burials and cremations and made great ceremonial offerings to the dead. All indications seem to prove that these people had a highly developed social order enabling them to plan and execute complicated earthworks.

It is generally believed that the Hopewell people lived in Ohio about 900 to 1100 years ago.

MONDAY: The formation of Pickaway County, the erection of a circular town and the gradual but certain abandonment of the "round" conception.

Dear Abby: No Resistance!

DEAR ABBY: I have just celebrated my 16th birthday, and I would like to tell that 15-year-old what HAPPINESS means to me.

"HAPPINESS is no longer having to roam the streets of Seoul, begging for food, sleeping in doorways and under bridges, or being cold, hungry or dirty. HAPPINESS is having an American believe in me enough to take me in, give me my first real meal in years, buy me my first pair of socks, and leather shoes, and underwear, and give me a bed where I could sleep between sheets let me see my first TV, and give me the first security I have ever known. HAPPINESS means being adopted, and coming to the United States. HAPPINESS is the opportunity to attend school again for the first time after three years. HAPPINESS is becoming an American citizen and making my parents proud of me."

This is what our son has told us many times, Abby. When we brought him to this country only 32 months ago, he could not speak, read or write English. Today he is a First Class Boy Scout, a De Moly, a straight "A" student, president of his class, and a member of the Honor Society. HAPPINESS for us is having a son like this.

Sincerely yours,
MAJOR AND MRS. R.W.M.
COLORADO SPRINGS,
DEAR MAJOR AND MRS.

Local Ministers Present Panel Discussion at Meet

A group of local ministers presented a panel discussion on the topic, "Shall We Unite?", when the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met Wednesday evening in the church social rooms.

The Rev. Gerald Niswender, Calvary EUB Church, the Rev. William Huber, St. Philip's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Paul Wachs, First Methodist Church and Wallace Higgins, first Presbyterian Church, comprised the panel. They discussed the advantages and disadvantages of becoming one large Protestant denomination. Mrs. Roliff Wolford was moderator. A question and answer session followed.

Pythian Sisters Conduct Meeting

Major's Temple No. 516, Pythian Sisters, met Thursday evening. Mrs. Walden Reichelderfer, most excellent chief, was in charge of the meeting.

A memorial service was held and the charter draped for Mrs. Minnie Newton, a Past Chief and a charter member of Major's Temple who died Jan. 16. Resolutions of respect were submitted by the committee comprised of Mrs. Loring Evans, Mrs. Roy Groce and Mrs. Frank Davis.

It was announced that the inspection of Major's Temple would be May 21. An invitation was extended to members of Harrisburg Temple to be guests of Major's Temple for Friendship Night April 2.

In observance of "Obligation, Education and Instruction Night", members repeated the obligation of the order. The declaration of principles was read and it was noted that the Order of Pythian Sisters came into being Oct. 22, 1888, with the institution of Warsaw Temple No. 1 of the World located at Warsaw, Ind. with James Addison Hill as the founder. Many things relative to the ritual and the grand laws were discussed. Washington and Lincoln will be honored at the next meeting, Feb. 20. Mrs. Charles Sabine, Mrs. Davis, Miss Mary Clark, Mrs. Otis Leist, Mrs. Corneil Copeland and Mrs. Ota Lovett will serve on the refreshment committee.

Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Marion Good, Miss Nellie Bolender, Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe and Miss Clarissa Talbut served refreshments.

An invitation was read from Hedges Chapel Woman's Society to attend their Silver Tea 2-4 p. m. Feb. 22. Mrs. William Deffenbaugh reported on the recent mission study class conducted during January. Mrs. Walter Heine reported on student work. She corresponds with 60 students and persons in service.

Mrs. Eugene Petty, chairman of Circle No. 1, announced they are making playclothes for preschoolers. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Petty or any member of the Circle.

Mrs. Arnold Moats presented devotions.

Guests were present from St. Paul's EUB Church and St. Philip's Episcopal Church. Refreshments were served by members of Circle No. 4.

Art Talent Contest Plans Are Listed

Mrs. Donald Colegrove, chairman of the Circleville Junior Women's Club, announced today that this year the group will sponsor the local competition of the General Federation of Women's Club art talent contest for high school seniors.

Mrs. Colegrove said she would arrange for the distribution of entry blanks for any interested senior students through the offices of the superintendents of public, parochial and private schools. The national program has been endorsed by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

This year's theme is "To Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" and may be interpreted in oil, watercolor, pastels or mixed media. The deadline for the state contest will be April 1.

Entries in the state contest will be judged and a winner selected by a jury of awards to be entered in the national competition. Entries in the national contest will be competing for three scholarships of $1,000, $750 and $600 offered by Hallmark Cards. The greeting card firm has participated in the national program since its inception in 1953.

Note to new cooks: when a recipe directs you to baste poultry, spoon the liquid in the pan (or any other mixture called for) over the bird.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

No Resistance!

"DEAR ABBY: I have just celebrated my 16th birthday, and I would like to tell that 15-year-old what HAPPINESS means to me.

"HAPPINESS is no longer having to roam the streets of Seoul, begging for food, sleeping in doorways and under bridges, or being cold, hungry or dirty. HAPPINESS is having an American believe in me enough to take me in, give me my first meal in years, buy me my first pair of socks, and leather shoes, and underwear, and give me a bed where I could sleep between sheets let me see my first TV, and give me the first security I have ever known. HAPPINESS means being adopted, and coming to the United States. HAPPINESS is the opportunity to attend school again for the first time after three years. HAPPINESS is becoming an American citizen and making my parents proud of me."

This is what our son has told us many times, Abby. When we brought him to this country only 32 months ago, he could not speak, read or write English. Today he is a First Class Boy Scout, a De Molay, a straight "A" student, president of his class, and a member of the Honor Society. HAPPINESS for us is having a son like this.

Sincerely yours,
MAJOR AND MRS. R.W.M.

Invading Indians Topple CHS Tigers in 74-61 Bout

The Circleville Tigers lost to the invading Hillsboro Indians, 74-61, last night in a South Central Ohio League basketball game.

The Indians are still in second place with a 8-2 record in the loop while the Tigers moved deeper into the cellar with a 1-11 slate.

It was a ragged played game on the part of both teams. The Tigers committed 20 turnovers while the Indians lost the ball on errors 23 times.

A total of 37 personal fouls were called, with 19 charged to Circleville and 18 to the invaders.

HILLSBORO'S big Fred Cluff, the league's leading scorer was held to 17 points last night—one of his lower productions of the season.

However Terry McConaughy took the slack left by the 6-foot-8 pivot man.

McConaughy scored 33 points in the game, 14 of them coming in the last quarter on fast breaks when Cluff was dominating the defensive boards. The Indian forward hit 11 shots from the field and an equal number at the charity stripe.

High point man for the Tigers was John Thomas. He hit six field goals and four foul shots for a total of 16 points.

The first quarter saw Cluff start the scoring with a bunny shot. He was fouled and proceeded to can his charity toss to put the Indians on top with just 18 seconds of the contest gone.

And from that point on the visitors never trailed. By half-time they had parleyed a 19-13 first quarter edge into a 38-25 lead.

THE McConaughy brothers, Jim and Terry accounted for 21 of those first half points.

The second half started much as the first, with Cluff getting the Indians on the score-board first. Hillsboro stretched its lead to 16 points and then saw it fade to nine just before the third quarter came to a halt.

However the score was 56-45 as the final period began.

At this point Terry McConaughy went to work. He scored the first six points of the quarter and the Indians tallied eight before Circleville could break into the scoring column.

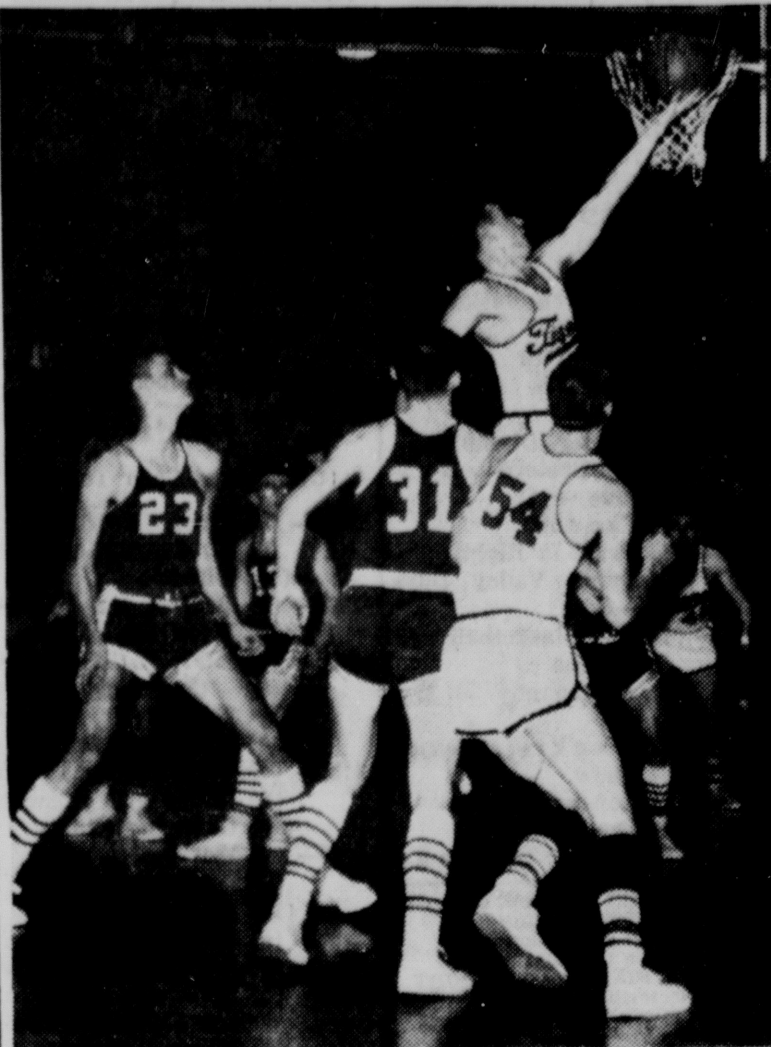

With four minutes remaining in the game, Hillsboro held a 22 point margin — their biggest lead of the game.

Hillsboro coach Jim Saunders began substituting, with Cluff getting the call to rest first. Circleville tallied the last seven points of the game, but were down to far to hope to get back into the game.

THE INDIANS outscored Circleville both from the field and at the charity stripe. The visitors hit 27 of 68 field goal attempts and 20 of 28 shots at the foul line.

Circleville hit 25 of 75 attempts from the field and 11 of 23 chances at the foul line. The Indians edge in field goal shooting plus the superior rebounding in the final period were the two big differences in the teams.

Tom Smith, who strained his back during a physical education class yesterday, scored 11 points for Circleville. He and Thomas were the only two Tigers to hit double figures. Bob Purcell tallied nine points from his guard position, Ron Seward and Tom Tootle tallied six each, Chet Iery scored five, Dave Bass had four points and Charlie Lewis and Doug Price had two each.

FOR Hillsboro, Jim McConaughy finished the game with 11 points and Ken Kessler had seven.

Circleville reserves trailed by four points at halftime and then finished strong to post a 59-45 win over the visiting jayvee unit.

Tim Stonerock had a hot hand for the younger edition of the Tigers and finished the game with a total of 25 points on seven field goals and 11 foul shots.

Howard Dade contributed 11 and Dave Iery added ten for the reserves. Jim Diltz, who led Circleville last week at Greenfield, tallied six last night and Jeff Monroe scored five while Tim Adams tallied two.

The CHS reserves trailed 10-7 at the end of the first period and 22-18 at halftime. By the time the third period ended they were on top 37-31, as the young Indians could not solve Circleville's full court press.

Friday Circleville will host Washington C. H. Two games remain to be played in league competition.

A GAME with Franklin Heights has been postponed and will be rescheduled following the class AA tournament drawing Monday at Columbus.

Braves Down Wildcats in 37-31 Battle

Logan Elm Finishes Second in SVC Play With 3-1 Record

Logan Elm downed Laurelville 37-31 last night on the Wildcats' floor to hold second place in the Scioto Valley Conference with a 3-1 slate.

The Braves lost only to Paint Valley in the league. Laurelville was winless in SVC competition.

It was a low scoring game that saw Logan Elm leading all the way. The score at the end of the first period was 8-7 in favor of the Braves.

At halftime they held a 17-13 edge and maintained the four point margin to lead 28-24 as the final period began.

GARY HARDMAN paced the Logan Elm attack, hitting four field goals and seven charity tosses for a total of 15 points. He was the high scorer in the game.

Arnie Gabriel contributed 11 markers for Logan Elm while Jeff Lutz scored four.

High for the host school was Kenny Disbennett with ten.

The game saw the Braves hit a meager 11 of 46 attempts from the field for a 24 per cent average, while the Wildcats connected on a scant ten of 51 shots for a 20 per cent average.

The host school held a big edge in the rebounding department pulling down 46 compared to 30 for Logan Elm.

Disbennett and John Young each pulled 11 off the boards while Darryl Reichelderfer snagged nine for the winners.

THE LOGAN ELM reserves lost the preliminary tilt, their second loss in a row, 33-29.

Tonight the Braves host Amanda Clearcreek and Friday they travel to Teays Valley.

Clarksburg Posts 89-87 Win over Kingston Redskins

Kingston dropped a close 89-87 basketball game to host school Clarksburg in spite of a record setting performance by the Redskins' Mike Search last night.

Search hit 18 of 28 field goal attempts and dropped in three charity tosses for a total of 39 points — a new Kingston High School record for total points scored in one game.

The Redskins led by two points with nine seconds to go in the ball game. But Clarksburg's Fellenstein dropped in two buckets at the charity stripe and then proceeded to steal the inbound pass and can the winning two-pointer.

Ater was the high scorer for the losers with a total of 25 markers. Fellenstein and Large tallied 21 each.

LISTON hit ten field goals and three charity tosses for the losers.

Kingston outscored their opponents, 70-62, from the field but lost the game at the charity stripe. The Redskins hit 35 of 70 attempts while the losers hit 31 of 65. At the charity stripe, the winners canned 27 of 35 tries.

The Clarksburg reserves won the preliminary tilt, 67-37. Kingston has an overall record of 11 wins and seven losses. In the Ross County league they stand at 3-6.

The drawings for the Ross tournament were held this morning at Chillicothe.

Viking Five Downs Old Grads, 74-68

Teays Valley Vikings scored six points in the final minute of the basketball game last night to defeat an Alumni team, 74-68.

The score was knotted 68-68 with only one minute of playing time remaining in the see-saw battle.

At the end of the first quarter the Vikings led the Grads, 21-12. But the Alumni team came right back to post a 39-35 half-time edge and then faltered to trail 58-49 as the final period began.

Dough Mallory notched game scoring honors when he tossed in ten field goals and two charity tosses for the winners. Mitchell Clay scored 15 points on five field goals and five charity shots. Bill Fortner tallied 11 points and Mike Seymour scored ten.

HIGH FOR the losers was Duane Sheets who hit eight field goals and five charity tosses for a total of 21 points.

The team was composed of Dan Hollenback, Sonny Roof, Chuck Miller, Paul Hartley, Larry Leist, Jim Albright and Sheets, all members of the first graduating class of Teays Valley High school.

The Alumni unit copped the reserve game.

Tonight the Vikings host Fairfield Union. They close out the season next Friday when they host Logan Elm.

Monroe Rout Darby, 74-48

Monroe, who was dumped twice this season by Darby, 79-73 and 72-57, turned the tables on the Trojan home floor last night by handing Darby a 74-48 defeat.

The win boosted Monroe to a 4-14 overall record. Darby dropped to 4-11. The red-hot Indians could do little wrong in the contest.

An unofficial tally showed Monroe hitting 63 per cent from the field in the second half of the game. Darby was as cold as Monroe was hot. The hapless Trojans fired 67 shots at the basket and hit on 17 for 25 per cent.

The Indians etched out an early 17-11 first quarter mark before exploding into the second period. At the half, Monroe led 37-24. The third period score was 50-34 before Monroe iced the contest with a 24 point outburst in the final canto.

SPARKS paced the Indians to the victory. He canned nine field goals and three fouls for 21 points. Blair hit 19, Seelye tallied 15, Sheets hit 14 and Ingman carded seven.

Dan Bowen and Dave Rowland fired in 17 points each to pace Darby. Ken Drummond netted 10 to hit double figures for the Trojans.

Bulldogs Are Defeated by Frankfort

A late rally by Centralia fell short last night as the visiting Bulldogs dropped a one-point decision to Frankfort, 77-76, in Ross County League play.

The Bulldogs got off to a slow start and trailed all of the game. They were down four points at the end of the first period, and the winners still held a four point margin at halftime.

As the final period started, Frankfort led 52-45. Centralia outscored the host team from the field but Frankfort had 37 chances at the charity stripe and hit 27. The Bulldogs connected on 14 of 18 chances.

Bulldog coach Bob Sigler said it was the first game of the season in which his charges committed more personal fouls than the opponents.

THREE BULLDOGS fouled out of the tilt and two more had four personals.

High scoring honors went to Wright of Frankfort. He had 27 points.

Dave Adler paced the Centralia quint with 22 points while Dannie Allen and Glenn Burchwell scored 14 markers each. The reserve game was won by Centralia, 34-30.

Centralia tied with Paint Valley for third in the Ross County league, won by Southeastern.

HILLSBORO'S big Fred Cluff, the league's leading scorer was held to 17 points last night—one of his lower productions of the season.

However Terry McConaughy took the slack left by the 6-foot-8 pivot man.

McConaughy scored 33 points in the game, 14 of them coming in the last quarter on fast breaks when Cluff was dominating the defensive boards. The Indian forward hit 11 shots from the field and an equal number at the charity stripe.

High point man for the Tigers was John Thomas. He hit six field goals and four foul shots for a total of 16 points.

The first quarter saw Cluff start the scoring with a bunny shot. He was fouled and proceeded to can his charity toss to put the Indians on top with just 18 seconds of the contest gone.

And from that point on the visitors never trailed. By halftime they had parleyed a 19-13 first quarter edge into a 38-25 lead.

THE McConaughy brothers, Jim and Terry accounted for 21 of those first half points.

The second half started much as the first, with Cluff getting the Indians on the scoreboard first. Hillsboro stretched its lead to 16 points and then saw it fade to nine just before the third quarter came to a halt.

However the score was 56-45 as the final period began.

At this point Terry McConaughy went to work. He scored the first six points of the quarter and the Indians tallied eight before Circleville could break into the scoring column.

With four minutes remaining in the game, Hillsboro held a 22 point margin — their biggest lead of the game.

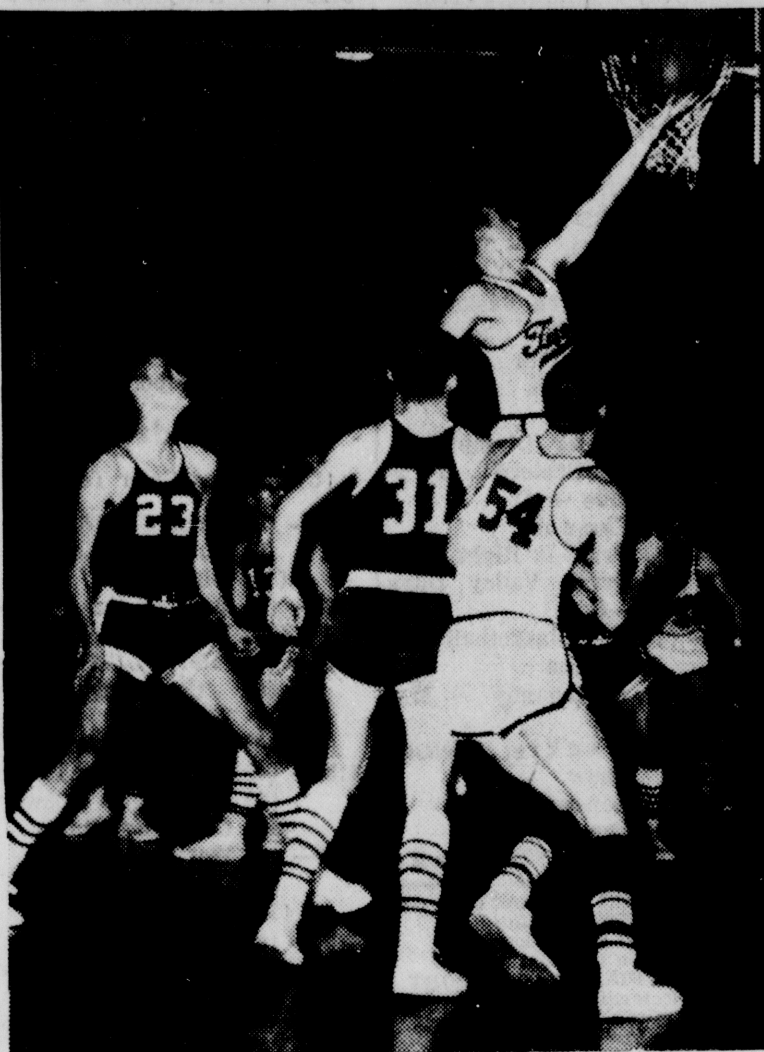

Hillsboro coach Jim Saunderson began substituting, with Cluff getting the call to rest first. Circleville tallied the last seven points of the game, but were down to far to hope to get back into the game.

THE INDIANS outscored Circleville both from the field and at the charity stripe. The visitors hit 27 of 68 field goal attempts and 20 of 28 shots at the foul line.

Circleville hit 25 of 75 attempts from the field and 11 of 23 chances at the foul line.

The Indians edge in field goal shooting plus the superior rebounding in the final period were the two big differences in the teams.

Tom Smith, who strained his back during a physical education class yesterday, scored 11 points for Circleville. He and Thomas were the only two Tigers to hit double figures. Bob Purcell tallied nine points from his guard position, Ron Seward and Tom Tootle tallied six each, Chet Iery scored five, Dave Bass had four points and Charlie Lewis and Doug Price had two each.

SMITH'S LAYUP — Tom Smith drives the foul lane to can a shot during the Circleville-Hillsboro game last night in the Tiger gymnasium. Doug Roth (54) positions for a possible rebound with John Stephens (31) of Hillsboro while Fred Cluff (23) watches the action.

FOR Hillsboro, Jim McConaughy finished the game with 11 points and Ken Kessler had seven.

Circleville reserves trailed by four points at halftime and then finished strong to post a 59-45 win over the visiting jayvee unit.

Tim Stonerock had a hot hand for the younger edition of the Tigers and finished the game with a total of 25 points on seven field goals and 11 foul shots.

Howard Dade contributed 11 and Dave Iery added ten for the reserves. Jim Diltz, who led Circleville last week at Greenfield, tallied six last night and Jeff Monroe scored five while Tim Adams tallied two.

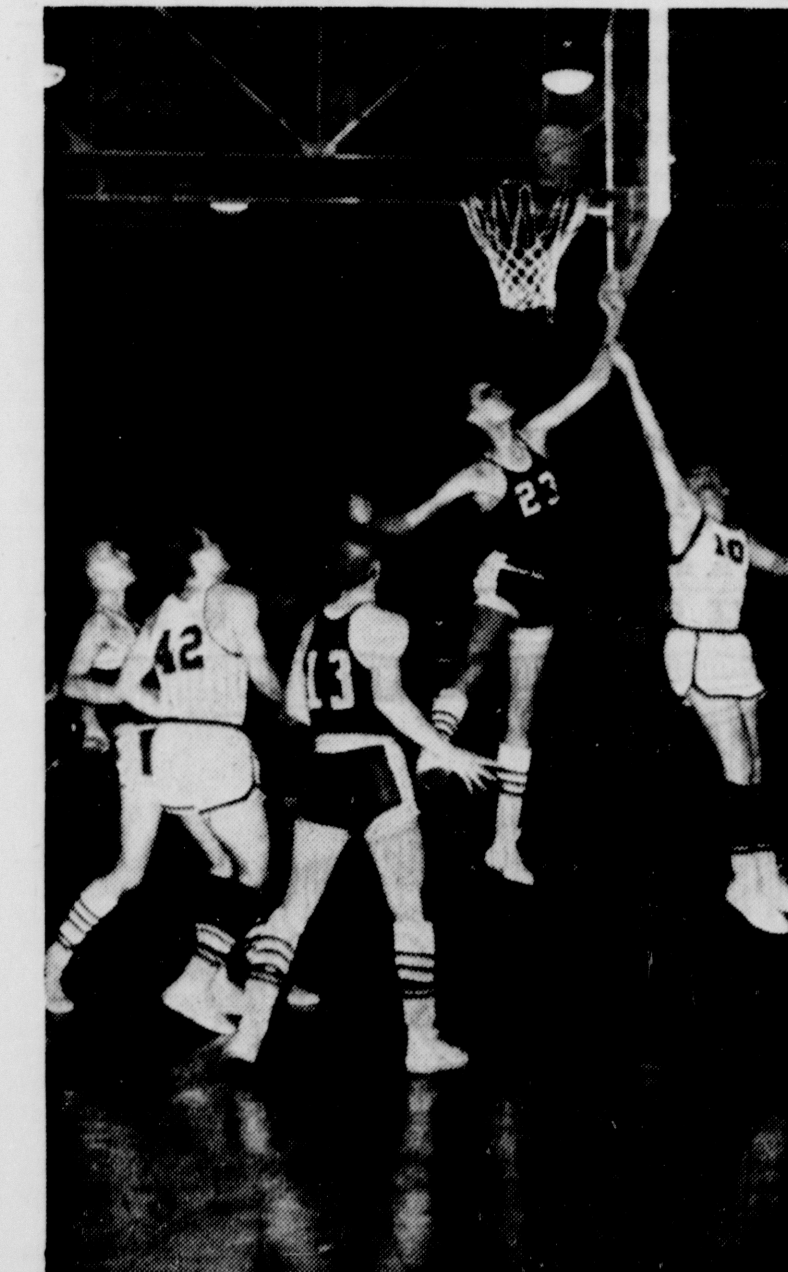

The CHS reserves trailed 10-7 at the end of the first period and 22-18 at halftime. By the time the third period ended they were on top 37-31, as the young Indians could not solve Circleville's full court press.

Friday Circleville will host Washington C. H. Two games remain to be played in league competition.

A GAME with Franklin Heights has been postponed and will be rescheduled following the class AA tournament drawing Monday at Columbus.

Logan Elm Finishes Second in SVC Play With 3-1 Record

Logan Elm downed Laurelville 37-31 last night on the Wildcats' floor to hold second place in the Scioto Valley Conference with a 3-1 slate.

The Braves lost only to Paint Valley in the league. Laurelville was winless in SVC competition.

It was a low scoring game that saw Logan Elm leading all the way. The score at the end of the first period was 8-7 in favor of the Braves.

At halftime they held a 17-13 edge and maintained the four point margin to lead 28-24 as the final period began.

GARY HARDMAN paced the Logan Elm attack, hitting four field goals and seven charity tosses for a total of 15 points. He was the high scorer in the game.

Arnie Gabriel contributed 11 markers for Logan Elm while Jeff Lutz scored four.

High for the host school was Kenny Disbennett with ten.

The game saw the Braves hit a meager 11 of 46 attempts from the field for a 24 per cent average, while the Wildcats connected on a scant ten of 51 shots for a 20 per cent average.

The host school held a big edge in the rebounding department pulling down 46 compared to 30 for Logan Elm.

Disbennett and John Young each pulled 11 off the boards while Darryl Reichelderfer snagged nine for the winners.

THE LOGAN ELM reserves lost the preliminary tilt, their second loss in a row, 33-29.

Tonight the Braves host Amanda Clearcreek and Friday they travel to Teays Valley.

Top-Ranked Canton Loses to Massillon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Massillon, ranked 10th in the latest Associated Press poll, knocked off the No. 1 rated Ohio high school basketball team, Canton McKinley, 63 - 62 Friday night.

The thrice-beaten Tigers dealt the arch-rival Bulldogs their first defeat of the campaign.

Steve Murphy intercepted a pass against Miami of Ohio and ran 78 yards for a Northwest-ern touchdown.

Jackson Wildcats Thump Visiting Ohio Deaf, 90-53

The Jackson Wildcats supplied their fans with greatest offensive show of the season last night when they thumped a weak Ohio Deaf squad 90-43 on the Wildcat home court.

Jackson started to rout the game in the very first quarter as the Wildcats jumped to a 19-12 lead. The Wildcats scored 33 points in the second period and they led 52-24 as

Viking Five Downs Old Grads, 74-68

Teays Valley Vikings scored six points in the final minute of the basketball game last night to defeat an Alumni team, 74-68.

The score was knotted 68-68 with only one minute of playing time remaining in the seasaw battle.

At the end of the first quarter the Vikings led the Grads, 21-12. But the Alumni team came right back to post a 39-35 halftime edge and then faltered to trail 58-49 as the final period began.

Dough Mallory notched game scoring honors when he tossed in ten field goals and two charity tosses for the winners. Mitchell Clay scored 15 points on five field goals and five charity shots. Bill Fortner tallied 11 points and Mike Seymour scored ten.

HIGH FOR the losers was Duane Sheets who hit eight field goals and five charity tosses for a total of 21 points.

The team was composed of Dan Hollenback, Sonny Roof, Chuck Miller, Paul Hartley, Larry Leist, Jim Albright and Sheets, all members of the first graduating class of Teays Valley High school.

The Alumni unit copped the reserve game.

Tonight the Vikings host Fairfield Union. They close out the season next Friday when they host Logan Elm.

Monroe Routs Darby, 74-48

Monroe, who was dumped twice this season by Darby, 79-73 and 72-57, turned the tables on the Trojan home floor last night by handing Darby a 74-48 defeat.

The win boosted Monroe to a 4-14 overall record. Darby dropped to 4-11. The red-hot Indians could do little wrong in the contest.

An unofficial tally showed Monroe hitting 63 per cent from the field in the second half of the game. Darby was as cold as Monroe was hot. The hapless Trojans fired 67 shots at the basket and hit on 17 for 25 per cent.

The Indians etched out an early 17-11 first quarter mark before exploding into the second period. At the half, Monroe led 37-24. The third period score was 50-34 before Monroe iced the contest with a 24 point outburst in the final canto.

SPARKS paced the Indians to the victory. He canned nine field goals and three fouls for 21 points. Blair hit 19, Seeley tallied 15, Sheets hit 14 and Ingman scored seven.

Dan Bowen and Dave Rowland fired in 17 points each to pace Darby. Ken Drummond netted 10 to hit double figures for the Trojans.

Monroe also won the reserve game 57-37.

Veek Gets Bid From Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bill Veek, former owner of three major league baseball clubs, says he has been approached by a Baltimore Oriole stockholder about running the club.

Veek hinted he was "casually interested" in the Orioles, but then added, "at one time, I very much wanted to move here, but the bloom now is off the pumpkin."

Bulldogs Are Defeated by Frankfort

A late rally by Centralia fell short last night as the visiting Bulldogs dropped a one-point decision to Frankfort, 77-76, in Ross County League play.

The Bulldogs got off to a slow start and trailed all of the game. They were down four points at the end of the first period, and the winners still held a four point margin at halftime.

As the final period started, Frankfort led 52-45. Centralia outscored the host team from the field but Frankfort had 37 chances at the charity stripe and hit 27. The Bulldogs connected on 14 of 18 chances.

Bulldog coach Bob Sigler said it was the first game of the season in which his charges committed more personal fouls than the opponents.

THREE BULLDOGS fouled out of the tilt and two more had four personals.

High scoring honors went to Wright of Frankfort. He had 27 points.

Dave Edler paced the Centralia quint with 22 points while Dannie Allen and Glenn Burchwell scored 14 markers each. The reserve game was won by Centralia, 34-30.

Centralia tied with Paint Valley for third in the Ross County league, won by South-eastern.

Russia Wins Team Honors In Olympics

10 Gold Medals Go to Moscow's Winter Athletes

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Every third time a gold medal was passed out at the ninth Winter Olympic Games, it went to a Russian.

It was a tremendous performance that brought the Soviet Union the unofficial team title in these games that formally end Sunday.

It also showed increasing prowess in winter sports for Russia, a relative newcomer to the Winter Olympics. The Russians did not win a gold medal in the Winter Games until 1956. Then they won six. They took seven more at Squaw Valley in 1960.

They captured their 10th gold medal here Friday, making it impossible for any other country to overtake them in the medal count in the remaining competitions.

The latest Soviet gold came in the ladies' 15-kilometer cross-country ski relay. Claudia Boyarskikh, who previously had won the ladies 5-kilometer and 10-kilometer races, led the Russian relay team to victory, winning her third gold medal.

Other members of the Russian relay team were Alevtina Kolchina and Eudokia Mekshilo. Their time was 59:20.2.

In other gold medal events Friday:

Canada's first top award came in a surprising victory in the four-man bobsled competition by Vic Emery's crew. Their time of 4:14.46 left Austria's Erwin Thaler in second place and Italy's favored Eugenio Monti in third place—and talking about retiring. Thaler's total time for the four runs was 4:15.48. Monti's was 4:15.89.

Jonny Nilsson of Sweden triumphed in the men's 10,000-meter speed skating, with a time of 15:50.1. Two Norwegians trailed, Fred Anton Maier in 16:06.0 and Knut Johannefsen in 16:06.3. It was revenge for Nilsson and Sweden. Johannefsen two days ago led a Norwegian sweep of the 5,000-meter race.

Russia's 10th gold medal also tied the Winter Olympics gold count between it and the United States at 23 each. The United States won its medals over the past 40 years, taking only one here.

Norway still is the all-time Winter Olympics gold medal winner—with 37—including two in these games.

Clay Seeks License To Picket Liston

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Cassius Clay, boxer, poet, ticket-seller, recording artist and prophet, says he will appear before the Surfside City Council Tuesday night and plead for permission to picket the training halls of heavyweight champion Sonny Liston.

Clay made the decision Friday, when Wiley B. Barefoot, police chief of Surfside, refused to admit Clay and his aides to Liston's camp.

They had made the trip in a bus plastered with signs that said:

"If Liston keeps up this jive, I'm cutting it to five."
"Bear season opens Feb. 25."
And, as usual, "Cassius Clay, I'm the greatest."

Five is a reference to the number of rounds Clay says it will take him to whip Liston in the heavyweight title match on Feb. 25.

Clay calls this activity part of psychological warfare, according to his press agents. They contend it is working. For instance, the publicity men said that Liston was irritated by Clay's trip Friday and looked sloppy while sparring with Leo Martin.

Liston cut his workout short and, without showering, slipped out the back door, the publicity men said.

It was the second day in a row that Clay skipped a workout.

PROUD OF HIS BIG NEPHEW—Big, 6-foot-5 Dave Stillabower holds his uncle, Evert Stillabower, 4 years old and 3 feet tall, in Columbus, Ind. Evert is a regular spectator at Columbus High School basketball games. Notice the message on his jacket, "I am 43's uncle."

UCLA Shuns Din, Chalks Its 18th Straight Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You can tout that horn, but it doesn't mean a thing to the all-conquering UCLA basketball team.

The nation's only undefeated major college team and top-ranked in The Associated Press poll, the Bruins made it 18 in a row Friday night by walloping California 87-67.

Fanatic Cal rooters packed Harmon Gymnasium at Berkeley, Calif., to its capacity of 7,200, but their screeching and the blaring of student bands, didn't scare UCLA as it has other teams in the past.

The playmaking of Walt Hazard a.1 his 21 points plus the shooting of Gail Goodrich, good for 26 points, gave UCLA a 40-30 halftime lead and the Bruins ripped the game open with their customary second half burst. They now are 7-0 in Big Six competition to Cal's 5-2. Davidson, No. 5, walloped Georgia Southern 95-76 and Vanderbilt, No. 8, trounced Tulane 96-64 in the only other games involving teams in the AP Top Ten. It was Tulane's 17th consecutive setback and left the Greenies still the only winless major team.

Georgia Tech nipped Louisiana State 51-49 on R. D. Craddock's jump shot with five seconds left and moved into a first place tie with Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference. Georgia and Kentucky each are 6-2 in SEC play with Vandy right behind at 5-2.

Things got all jammed up in the Ivy League as Harvard upset Princeton 88-82 and Yale knocked off Cornell 79-67 to create a five-way deadlock. Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Cornell and Penn each are 4-2 in league play. Penn crushed Dartmouth 97-66 to gain its share of the top.

Syracuse snapped Pitt's eight-game winning streak 96-84, Boston University upset Army 73-62 and Tennessee Tech downed Western Kentucky 92-83 in overtime.

In other Friday games, Washington beat Southern California 66-60, Colorado State U. downed Wyoming 66-56, Oregon overcame Idaho 61-58, Stanford defeated Washington State 80-69, Oregon State whipped Portland 97-68 and Utah State nipped Montana State in overtime, 77-73.

Charlie Dees of the Los Angeles Angels was the best hitting first baseman in the American League last season. He bated .307 in 60 games. Joe Cunningham of the White Sox was second with .286.

Russia Wins Team Honors In Olympics

10 Gold Medals Go to Moscow's Winter Athletes

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Every third time a gold medal was passed out at the ninth Winter Olympic Games, it went to a Russian.

It was a tremendous performance that brought the Soviet Union the unofficial team title in these games that formally end Sunday.

It also showed increasing prowess in winter sports for Russia, a relative newcomer to the Winter Olympics. The Russians did not win a gold medal in the Winter Games until 1956. Then they won six. They took seven more at Squaw Valley in 1960.

They captured their 10th gold medal here Friday, making it impossible for any other country to overtake them in the medal count in the remaining competitions.

The latest Soviet gold came in the ladies' 15-kilometer cross-country ski relay. Claudia Boyarskikh, who previously had won the ladies 5-kilometer and 10-kilometer races, led the Russian relay team to victory, winning her third gold medal.

Other members of the Russian relay team were Alevtina Kolchina and Eudokia Mekshilo. Their time was 59:20.2.

In other gold medal events Friday: Canada's first top award came in a surprising victory in the four-man bobsled competition by Vic Emery's crew. Their time of 4:14.46 left Austria's Erwin Thaler in second place and Italy's favored Eugenio Monti in third place—and talking about retiring. Thaler's total time for the four runs was 4:15.48. Monti's was 4:15.89.

Jonny Nilsson of Sweden triumphed in the men's 10,000-meter speed skating, with a time of 15:50.1. Two Norwegians trailed, Fred Anton Maier in 16:06.0 and Knut Johannessen in 16:06.3. It was revenge for Nilsson and Sweden. Johannessen two days ago led a Norwegian sweep of the 5,000-meter race.

Russia's 10th gold medal also tied the Winter Olympics gold count between it and the United States at 23 each. The United States won its medals over the past 40 years, taking only one here.

Norway still is the all-time Winter Olympics gold medal winner—with 37—including two in these games.

Clay Seeks License To Picket Liston

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Cassius Clay, boxer, poet, ticket-seller, recording artist and prophet, says he will appear before the Surfside City Council Tuesday night and plead for permission to picket the training halls of heavyweight champion Sonny Liston.

Clay made the decision Friday, when Wiley B. Barefoot, police chief of Surfside, refused to admit Clay and his aides to Liston's camp.

"If Liston keeps up this jive, I'm cutting it to five," Clay said.

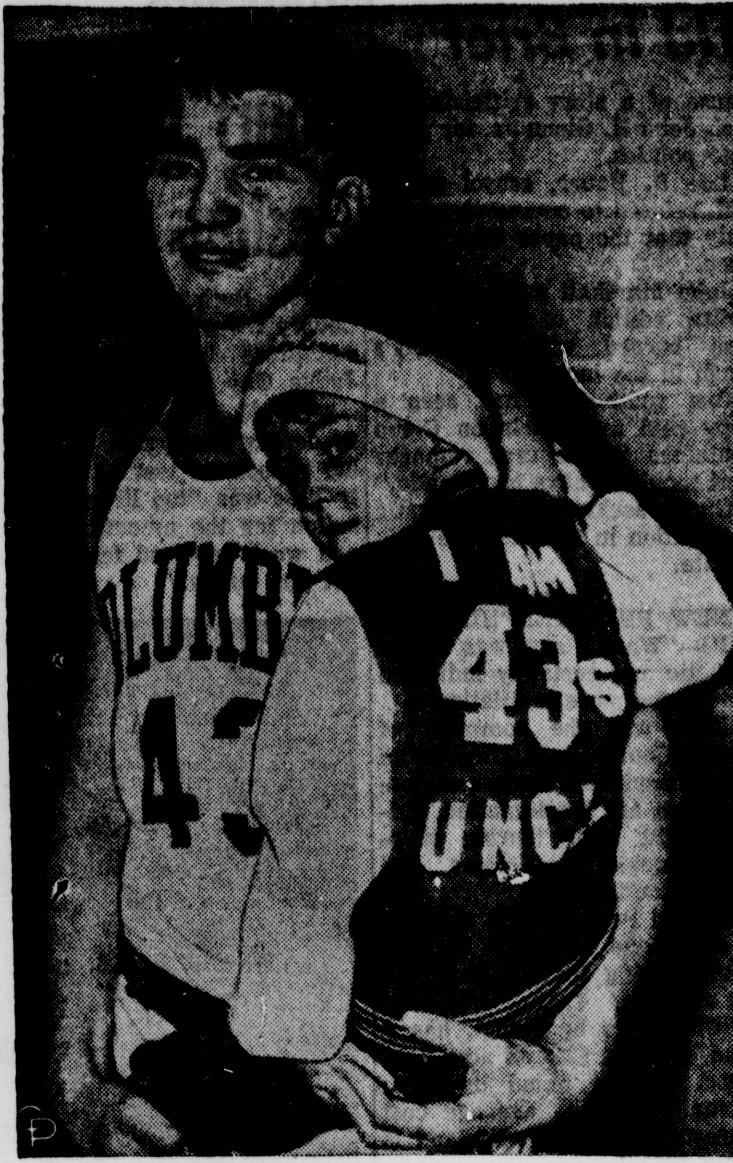

"Bear season opens Feb. 25," And, as usual, "Cassius Clay, I'm the greatest."

Five is a reference to the number of rounds Clay says it will take him to whip Liston in the heavyweight title match on Feb. 25.

Clay calls this activity part of psychological warfare, according to his press agents. They contend it is working. For instance, the publicity men said that Liston was irritated by Clay's trip Friday and looked sloppy while sparring with Leo T. Martin.

Liston cut his workout short and, without showering, slipped out the back door, the publicity men said.

It was the second day in a row that Clay skipped a workout.

UCLA Shuns Din, Chalks Its 18th Straight Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
You can't toot that horn, but it doesn't mean a thing to the all-conquering UCLA basketball team.

The nation's only undefeated major college team and top-ranked in The Associated Press poll, the Bruins made it 18 in a row Friday night by walloping California 87-67.

Fanatic Cal rooters packed Harmon Gymnasium at Berkeley, Calif. to its capacity of 7,200, but their screaming and the blaring of student bands, didn't scare UCLA as it has other teams in the past.

The playmaking of Walt Hazard and his 21 points plus the shooting of Gail Goodrich, good for 26 points, gave UCLA a 40-30 halftime lead and the Bruins ripped the game open with their customary second half burst. They now are 7-0 in Big Six competition to Cal's 5-2.

Davidson, No. 5, walloped Georgia Southern 95-76 and Vanderbilt, No. 8, trounced Tulane 96-64 in the only other games involving teams in the AP Top Ten. It was Tulane's 17th consecutive setback and left the Greenies still the only winless major team.

Georgia Tech nipped Louisiana State 51-49 on R. D. Craddock's jump shot with five seconds left and moved into a first place tie with Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference. Georgia and Kentucky each are 6-2 in SEC play with Vandy right behind at 5-2.

Things got all jammed up in the Ivy League as Harvard upset Princeton 88-82 and Yale knocked off Cornell 79-67 to create a five-way deadlock. Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Cornell and Penn each are 4-2 in league play. Penn crushed Dartmouth 97-66 to gain its share of the top.

Syracuse snapped Pitt's eight-game winning streak 96-84, Boston University upset Army 73-62 and Tennessee Tech downed Western Kentucky 92-83 in overtime.

In other Friday games, Washington beat Southern California 66-60, Colorado State U. downed Wyoming 66-56, Oregon overcame Idaho 61-58, Stanford defeated Washington State 80-69, Oregon State whipped Portland 97-68 and Utah State nipped Montana State in overtime, 77-73.

Charlie Dees of the Los Angeles Angels was the best hitting first baseman in the American League last season. He batted .307 in 60 games. Joe Cunningham of the White Sox was second with .286.

NBC: "We agree the release of the news was unfortunate, and we don't know how it got out. We certainly wouldn't do such a thing when premature printing of the information would redound against us."

Boone: "The network's action is the most dictatorial, the rankest I have ever encountered. They gave me a lousy lead-in like 'Redigo' and then beamed because I couldn't get a rating. As a matter of fact, our research shows that the series was in the top 10 of every independent poll taken in individual cities."

NBC: "Certainly Dick didn't get any help from 'Redigo.' But, judging from the Nielsen rating, his show wasn't able to do better than the opposition — 'Petticoat Junction' and Jack Benny on CBS and 'Greatest Show On Earth' on ABC."

Boone: "Our show wasn't the greatest of all time, but I think it was the best show on the air this year. We had our problems. It was obvious after the first few weeks that the level of scripts was not up to the level of performances. I wanted to confer with the network and the sponsors about improving the material, but I was told to wait."

"It looked as if they wanted to make sure the option passed and the show died. They wanted to stomp on it. It looks like I'm the biggest patsy in the world."

NBC: "Only a few months ago, we were just as enthusiastic as Dick about the show. We had to admit that it wasn't measuring up. That doesn't lessen our great respect for Dick. But it might be better if he would direct his energies toward more constructive lines."

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This is the season when a third or more of the television series get their walking papers. Such terminations inevitably cause outcries from the creators, and angry letters from television fans.

The cause celebre of the 1963-64 appears to be the Richard Boone Show, an attempt to establish a repertory company with actors playing different roles every week. The show was carefully watched by the critics, who praised its intentions, though not always its execution. Alas, if the ratings are to be believed, it wasn't watched by enough of the public.

Boone was incensed when NBC dropped the show, and he is still fuming about it. Said Boone: "The way the cancellation was released was inexcusable. The news was leaked to the trade press. Neither I nor the sponsors were advised or consulted."

NBC: "We agree the release of the news was unfortunate, and we don't know how it got out. We certainly wouldn't do such a thing when premature printing of the information would redound against us."

Senate Votes

(Continued from Page One) benefits of the bill should start flowing about March 1. The Senate version provides that the reduction in wage and salary withholding to reflect the cuts in income tax rates shall begin one week after the bill is signed.

The Senate completed its consideration of the bill in seven days, four of them involving night sessions. On the final vote, 56 Democrats and 21 Republicans supported the bill. Opposed were 11 Democrats, including eight Southerners, and 10 Republicans.

The House and Senate versions are identical in their rate reductions for the nation's 80 million individual and 550,000 corporate taxpayers. Thus there is no question of their eventual adoption.

The Senate bill, however, would immediately cut the 18 per cent withholding rate to 14 per cent instead of to 15 per cent as voted by the House.

House managers have indicated that they will go along with the lower rate, which was asked by Johnson, but perhaps insist that companies be given longer than one week to put it into effect in issuing pay checks. Many firms have said it is impossible to do it in a week.

When the 14 per cent rate takes effect, it will pour an additional $800 million a month into the economy. The administration is counting on this to stimulate economic growth, create more jobs and bring in additional tax revenue.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, listed several factors Friday that he said make the tax-cut bill "unsound and seriously threatening to our future fiscal stability."

Lausche voted against the bill, which the Senate passed 77-21. Ohio's other Democratic senator, Stephen M. Young, voted with the majority.

Lausche asserted that: —A tax reduction should not be made without substantial reductions in federal spending.

—Past tax cuts have not boosted economy.

—A tax cut under existing circumstances will breed serious inflation.

—A reversal of mounting deficits will not occur as claimed.

—Conclusions of proponents are "ifs," contingent upon expectations which may never be realized.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes quickly rejected a Russian citizen's request Friday to turn over to Russia a man, now living in Cleveland, whom the Russian identified as "a former Hitlerite."

"We can't consider any extradition requests from citizens," said John McElroy, assistant to Rhodes. "Such requests have to go through the State Department."

McElroy withheld the name of the Cleveland man and that of the sender of the letter.

CLEVELAND (AP)—The latest issue of the John Marshall High School newspaper has been confiscated, reportedly because of a story criticizing Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. for going into politics.

Lee B. Bauer, school principal, refused to comment, saying only that the paper was not issued.

John Marshall pupils said the entire edition of 2,000 copies was burned with the day's trash in the incinerator.

One youth who had seen a copy said the article on Glenn contained "some rash remarks that shouldn't have been made."

Glenn seeks the Democratic nomination in Ohio for the U.S. Senate.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—"What I saw was rather pathetic and certainly indicated a need for more legislation."

That was the comment of James Cunningham, director of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Conservation and Reclamation, Friday night after touring strip-mine areas in Holmes and Wayne counties.

He said Pennsylvania requires a strip-mine operator to post bond ranging from $500 to $1,000 an acre.

"Ohio, I've been told, has a bond of about $225 an acre," he noted. "We've found in Pennsylvania that the average cost of restoring an acre of land is about $370."

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — The government announced today the deportation of six University of Ghana faculty members — four of them Americans — for subversive activities.

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Three members of the Kennedy family, the widow of President John F. Kennedy and her two brothers-in-law, have flown into Palm Beach, Fla., to spend the weekend with the head of the family, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

Two Secret Service men accompanied Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., on the flight south by commercial airliner.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Singer Kate Smith, making her first night club appearance in 33 years of professional entertainment, broke her foot before rehearsal but made it to the stage six hours later in a cast.

"You can't say I didn't fall for you," the songstress, 54, told the audience at the Miami Beach nightspot.

She came on stage in a wheel chair but stood for her numbers.

Miss Smith fractured her left foot in two places when she slipped on the marble floor of a hotel lobby.

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson has told Soviet Premier Khrushchev that overt aggression is no more dangerous than subversion or infiltration by guerrilla forces.

Pearson's letter, made public Friday, replied to the Soviet leader's New Year's Eve communications proposing an international pact to renounce force in solving international disputes.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—A reduction in welfare state benefits, higher food prices and stricter control of labor have been announced by the Czechoslovak government in an apparent attempt to pep up the country's shaky economy.

PANAMA (AP)—Customs inspectors discovered a small arsenal Friday in a suitcase owned by a Panamanian arriving from New York and Miami. Authorities said the traveler, identified as Carlos Jovane, carried 23 grenades, a carbine rifle, 50 pounds of ammunition, a tear gas pistol, 17 flares and a manual on the use of grenades.

Jovane was placed under arrest.

Senate Votes

benefits of the bill should start flowing about March 1. The Sen- ate version provides that the re- duction in wage and salary withholding to reflect the cuts in income tax rates shall begin one week after the bill is signed.

The Senate completed its con- sideration of the bill in seven days, four of them involving night sessions. On the final vote, 56 Democrats and 21 Republi- cans supported the bill. Opposed were 11 Democrats, including eight Southerners, and 10 Re- publicans.

The House and Senate ver- sions are identical in their rate reductions for the nation's 80 million individual and 550,000 corporate taxpayers. Thus there is no question of their eventual adoption.

The Senate bill, however, would immediately cut the 18 per cent withholding rate to 14 per cent instead of to 15 per cent as voted by the House.

House managers have indicated that they will go along with the lower rate, which was asked by Johnson, but perhaps insist that companies be given longer than one week to put it into effect in issuing pay checks. Many firms have said it is im- possible to do it in a week.

When the 14 per cent rate takes effect, it will pour an ad- ditional $800 million a month into the economy. The adminis- tration is counting on this to stimulate economic growth, cre- ate more jobs and bring in ad- ditional tax revenue.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, listed several factors Friday that he said make the tax-cut bill "unsound and seriously threat- ening to our future fiscal stabil- ity."

Lausche voted against the bill, which the Senate passed 77-21. Ohio's other Democratic sena- tor, Stephen M. Young, voted with the majority.

Lausche asserted that:

—A tax reduction should not be made without substantial re- ductions in federal spending.

—Past tax cuts have not boost- ed economy.

—A tax cut under existing cir- cumstances will breed serious inflation.

—A reversal of mounting def- icits will not occur as claimed.

—Conclusions of proponents are "ifs," contingent upon ex- pectations which may never be realized.

Habitual Traffic Offender Handed Stiff Penalty

John Snyder, 28, Columbus, cited into Circleville Municipal Court for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone was handed a $100 fine and a ten day jail sentence by Judge Sterling Lamb yesterday.

Judge Lamb, in handing down the stiff penalty, noted that Snyder was a habitual traffic offender with at least 15 other previous convictions on his record. The judge suspended eight days of the jail sentence and placed Snyder on probation for three years.

Max Ebert, 19, Laurelville, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influ- ence of intoxicants was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to five days in the county jail and had his operator's license suspended for six months.

Both men entered pleas of guilty to the charges, and both were arrested by Ohio State Patrol officers.

Charles Wood, 19, Kingston, waived a court hearing and paid a $15 fine levied. He was charged with failure to main- tain an assured cleared dis- tance.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes quickly re- jected a Russian citizen's re- quest Friday to turn over to Russia a man, now living in Cleveland, whom the Russian identified as "a former Hitler- ite."

"We can't consider any extra- dition requests from citizens," said John McElroy, assistant to Rhodes. "Such requests have to go through the State Depart- ment."

McElroy withheld the name of the Cleveland man and that of the sender of the letter.

CLEVELAND (AP)—The lat- est issue of the John Mar- shall High School newspaper has been confiscated, reportedly be- cause of a story criticizing Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. for going into politics.

Lee B. Bauer, school princi- pal, refused to comment, saying only that the paper was not is- sued.

John Marshall pupils said the entire edition of 2,000 copies was burned with the day's trash in the incinerator.

One youth who had seen a copy said the article on Glenn contained "some rash remarks that shouldn't have been made."

Glenn seeks the Democratic nomination in Ohio for the U.S. Senate.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—"What I saw was rather pathetic and certainly indicated a need for more legislation."

That was the comment of James Cunningham, director of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Con- servation and Reclamation, Fri- day night after touring strip- mine areas in Holmes and Wayne counties.

He said Pennsylvania requires a strip-mine operator to post bond ranging from $500 to $1,000 an acre.

"Ohio, I've been told, has a bond of about $225 an acre," he noted. "We've found in Penn- sylvania that the average cost of restoring an acre of land is about $370."

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — The government announced today the deportation of six Univer- sity of Ghana faculty members —four of them Americans—for subversive activities.

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Three members of the Kennedy family, the widow of President John F. Kennedy and her two brothers-in-law, have flown into Palm Beach, Fla., to spend the weekend with the head of the family, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

Two Secret Service men ac- companied Mrs. John F. Ken- nedy, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Ken- nedy and Sen. Edward Kenne- dy, D-Mass., on the flight south by commercial airliner.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Singer Kate Smith, making her first night club appearance in 33 years of professional enter- tainment, broke her foot before rehearsal but made it to the stage six hours later in a cast.

"You can't say I didn't fall for you," the songstress, 54, told the audience at the Miami Beach nightspot.

She came on stage in a wheel chair but stood for her num- bers.

Miss Smith fractured her left foot in two places when she slipped on the marble floor of a hotel lobby.

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Min- ister Lester B. Pearson has told Soviet Premier Khrushchev that overt aggression is no more dangerous than subver- sion or infiltration by guerrilla forces.

Pearson's letter, made public Friday, replied to the Soviet leader's New Year's Eve com- munications proposing an inter- national pact to renounce force in solving international dis- putes.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—A reduction in welfare state benefits, higher food prices and stricter control of labor have been announced by the Czechoslovak government in an apparent attempt to pep up the country's shaky economy.

PANAMA (AP)—Customs in- spectors discovered a small ar- senal Friday in a suitcase owned by a Panamanian arriv- ing from New York and Miami.

Authorities said the traveler, identified as Carlos Jovane, carried 23 grenades, a carbine rifle, 50 pounds of ammunition, a tear gas pistol, 17 flares and a manual on the use of gre- nades.

Jovane was placed under ar- rest.

Juvenile Court Officer Resigns Post

Mrs. Ruth Neff, Pickaway County's Juvenile Officer, has submitted her resignation to Judge Guy Cline.

Mrs. Neff, who also serves as deputy clerk, said today that her reason for leaving the county post was "too little compen- sation for the amount of hours and work required for carrying out her duties."

Pickaway Grange

Eighty members attended the all day meeting of Pomona Grange held recently at the Grange 4-H building. Worthy Pomona Master C. D. Bennett conducted the business meeting at which time various reports were heard from committee chairmen and the subordinate secretaries.

County Deputy John Dowler reported on the building fund and told of the progress being made to liquidate the debt on the Grange 4-H Building.

A special project of all grang- es this next year is "to help Juvenile Granges in their sup- port of the Greek Team." Young couples live in Greece for two years at a time and teach simple methods of improving their way of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cavis of Scioto Valley Grange became members of Pomona.

Resolutions of Respect for Mrs. G. M. Newton of Wash- ington Grange, Mrs. Ira Stump and Mr. E. F. Strous of Salt Creek Valley Grange were read by Wayne Luckhart, a member of the resolutions com- mittee. Other members of this committee were A. Ray Plum and Mrs. John Dowler.

A state-wide legislative con- ference is scheduled for Feb. 22 at the Southern Hotel, Colum- bus, at 10 a. m.

Instead of the annual Grange Banquet this year, a covered dish dinner will be held at 6:30 p. m., April 3 for all county Grange members. A program will follow the dinner.

The following program was presented: piano solos — "It Is No Secret" and "Take Time To Be Holy" by Phyllis Hud- dak; a reading "Time" by Mrs. Forrest Hopkins, from Mt. Pleas- ant Grange. Readings "Be Not Afraid" and "Gossip Town" by Mrs. Russell Miller of Salt Creek Valley Grange; skit — "Income Tax Report" Harold Furniss and Patrick Dawson of Star Grange; readings "Tomor- row" and "Meditation" by Mrs. Harold Bumgarner from Scioto Valley Grange; readings "Speak Not of Age" and Robert Browning's writing about God by Mr. Bennett of Nebraska Grange. Closing song contest "I Want a Valentine" was won by a trio composed of Mrs. Thomas Carter, Mrs. Hopkins and Mr. Plum.

A delicious lunch was served at noon by Nebraska Grange. The next meeting will be held at 8 p. m. May 1 at the Grange 4-H Building with Star Grange as host.

MRS. RUTH E. NEFF
She was employed by the court in Sept. 1962 following the retirement of Karl Herrmann, who held the post a number of years. She has been very active in working with female delin- quency cases.

Mrs. Neff stated that she has accepted the position of recep- tionist for Dr. Robert McCoy, 125 N. Pickaway St. She had been formerly associated in a similar capacity for the late Dr. Ned B. Griner.

She worked for more than a year with Juvenile Probation Officer Ralph Starkey, who who also resigned recently to accept a position with an insur- ance firm.

Mrs. Neff is the wife of George Neff, an electrician, and resides on Route 2, in Jackson Twp.

Ohio Newspaper Chiefs End State Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Executives of many of Ohio's newspapers headed home today with a prediction from the gov- ernor and a challenge from a fellow publisher - editor ringing in their ears.

Since Thursday, more of them than ever before have been at- tending the Ohio Newspaper Association's annual convention. Including guests, there were about 500 persons at the annual banquet Friday night.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, on hand to make the yearly Gov- ernor's Award presentations, predicted that state government will be operating in the black by the middle of next year.

Earlier Friday, Editor-Pub- lisher John H. Colburn of the Wichita (Kan.) Eagle and Bea- con called for newspapers that readers will await with excite- ment.

Today's closing session dealt with new developments in news- paper publishing equipment.

Recipients of the Governor's Award recognizing persons who have enhanced Ohio's prestige are:

Fred J. Borch of New York, formerly of Cleveland, who re- cently became president of Gen- eral Electric Co.

Howard Bishop of Youngs- town, retired engineer who head- ed the "Little Hoover Commis- sion" study of Ohio Govern- ment.

Dr. Alfred B. Garrett, Ohio State University's vice presi- dent for research.

Actress Lillian Gish from Massillon and Springfield.

Doren Mitchell, formerly of Columbus and now of Martins- ville, N. J., a Bell Telephone Laboratories scientist.

Thomas F. Paton of Clevel- and, Republic Steel Corp. presi- dent and chairman of the group promoting the $250 million bond issue for education-conservation which passed last November.

Mike Peppe, Ohio State swim- ming coach from 1931 until his retirement last June, who rec- alled learning to swim between duties as a newspaperboy.

Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, attorney, Procter & Gamble executive and former U.S. sec- retary of commerce, was unable to receive his plaque in person.

Raymond E. Dix of the Woos- ter Daily Record was named Ohio Newspaper Association president, succeeding Louis B. Seltzer of the Cleveland Press.

Ernst L. Henes of the Well- ington Enterprise is vice president, and Frank W. Spencer of the Newark Advocate is treasurer.

William J. Oertel, fulltime secretary who began in 1948, was reappointed, Gardner H.
